probably have a large class as the course will meet at 1045 AM on Mondays and Wednesdays. a class of 25 or so students would be wonderful. Also, it appears that I am on the schedule to teach Humanities I again in the Fall on Mondays and Wednesdays from 8-9:15 P.M. — the same time as last Fall. That will be fine. I still have a fair number of un-answered job applications that I have made, including a very nice prospect at Gettysburg College for a 1-1/2 year sabbatical leave replacement position, starting January 1993. There are three remaining poetry shows for the Spring season that

I will show in:

5/3 - Central Pennsylvania avian club at Bloomsburg

5/17 - Buffalo and Western New York
Poultry Assoc. in Batavia

6/7 - Finger Lakes Feather Club show at Syracuse

Final decision on Batavia not yet made; deadline for all entries is 5/9. It's a one-day show so it will not be difficult, even though Batavia is way up by Buffalo. I will probably rent a car for the occasion. I don't want to worry about auto repair problems en route there & on the way home.

Mr. Powell,

In regards to the letter you wrote to Mary Lears concerning trios. Last year was the first year we experimented with trios. The Trio Classic we had last year was just something we did, we had no idea how it would turn out, as far as numbers shown and how exhibitors would feel about it.

The 1992 show we are planning to add Large Fowl and will be asking the APA what we have to do, to have the trios recognized by them.

When we meet again at a show or auction, hopefully I'll be able to explain it a little better. Thanks for the letter and your support of the TTPC.

Sincerely,
Robert Whitney

Dear Mr. Powell,

Thank you very much for the "Lady Tafel" Information Form you submitted. This data has been entered into the computer and has now been sent to my sister, Virginia T. Lake, for processing. You should be receiving your print-out before too long.

I am writing to you for two other reasons. First: we are currently up-dating our mailing list, and I remember that when you sent a check for 1991 dues you requested that the membership be listed as "Northeastern Pennsylvania Griswold Reunion" but that correspondence be sent to your brother. Because of space limitations we have had to abbreviate. We hope that what we have done will meet with your approval. Please let me know if it does not.

My other reason for writing is genealogical. I am descended from a Powell: Col. Miles<sup>2</sup> Powell (Robert<sup>2</sup>, William<sup>1</sup>) b. ca 1729, d. 17 September, 1791 at Lanesborough, MA. Do you happen to have a similar line of descent? I am still trying to find exactly where Miles was born. Some DAR records say "Wales" and at least one says "Wallingford, CT." My sister and I have checked at Wallingford and Middletown, which apparently had some early connections, and we found references to Robert but no birth record for Miles. Col. Miles Powell led Berkshire troops at the Battle of Bennington.

With best wishes to you and your brother,

Yours sincerely,

New Life for the American Elm

The nonprofit Elm Research Institute of Harrisville, New Hampshire, has embarked on an ambitious program to distribute 1 million disease-resistant American Liberty elms by the year 2000. Since 1967 the institute has supported work on the prevention and treatment of Dutch elm disease through research programs and more than $1 million in funding, which have resulted in an effective fungicide, a practical injection technique for diseased elms, and the resistant American Liberty elm.

Developed in 1983, the new tree is the only American elm (Ulmus americana) resistant to Dutch elm disease. The tree is a cross-pollinated clone of parent trees inoculated with the fungus Ceratocystis ulmi that survived the severe disease for many years. Although not immune to the disease, resistant elms can localize its effects and successfully recover.

The American Liberty elm is named after pre-Revolutionary Boston's Liberty Tree, a symbol of freedom cut down by British soldiers in August 1775. It is identical to the American elm in appearance, growth habit, and hardiness. The tree is ideal for urban sites because it tolerates pollution, drought, and salt once established. This exceptionally hardy tree can also withstand severe winds, making it an ideal hurricane replacement tree.

The elm is available to communities through the Johnny Elmseed program, a joint project of the institute and the Boy Scouts of America, under which municipalities can obtain 100 Liberty elms to replace their dead or dying elms. The Liberty elms are sent to a local Scout troop participating in the program. The troop cares for the seedlings until the trees reach street-planting heights of 5 to 6 feet, generally in two to three years. Then the Scouts transplant the trees to the areas in town where elms formerly stood.

For every 100 trees a municipality receives, the institute donates 25 trees to the local Scouts, who can sell them to raise funds for their troop.

Municipal membership (with annual dues of $300 to $750, depending on the town's population) entitles a town to 100 trees per year for up to five years. The institute also has three categories for individual membership. Those donating $25 receive a 1- to 2-foot tree; for $50, a 3- to 4-foot tree; with a $100 contribution you get a 5- to 6-foot tree. For information, write to the Elm Research Institute, Harrisville, New Hampshire 03450, or call (800) FOR-ELMS.

The leaf buds on the tree that I gave DWP II for his birthday are swelling up & will open soon!

Congregation, Berean Baptist Church,
Carbonale, PA 18407

Dear Friends:

Good things have been happening here at Berean Church. We had good attendance at Holy Week services and 180 at Easter worship which was the largest in the last five years! Last Sunday we had almost 100 at worship and it was my privilege to baptize Nicole Fisher. This week we will gather around our Lord's Table, remember our Savior and extend the hand of fellowship to Nicole.

Also Sunday after the worship service, there will be an important business meeting to adopt our 1992 budget. You will remember we tabled it at our annual meeting in January keeping it at 1991 levels for the first quarter. Now it is time to adopt a new budget.

The Business Committee met with Rev. William Housam, Area Minister, on March 15 to ask questions about the American Baptist pension and medical plan. The Committee met with me on Mar. 28 indicating they would still recommend to the Board that my benefits be cut almost $3,000 but agreed to take it from my travel expense and Social Security allowance. The Committee affirmed that they like me and that I have been doing a good job of ministry. The Administrative Board on April 9 after much discussion accepted these recommendations.

There are several questions that can be raised as a pastor becomes more valuable to a Church the longer he serves.

Since we have handled deficit budgets for several years, why the sudden need to change as the economy seems to be on an upswing?

Is it fair to cut only one employee?

With the proposed cuts, my salary package would be less than the one I agreed to in October 1988.

My salary package is already among the lowest of full-time professional clergy in the area.

Needless to say, this is a very stressful situation for me and makes ministry more difficult. I hope you will attend the meeting. Will Berean Church be fair to the Pastor?

Sincerely yours,

Gordon Wilson

An American Baptist Church For The Whole Family

5/1/92 - The merry month of May.

Two more Black orpington chicks in the world. That brings the total number of Black orpingtons up to 10, I believe. That should be enough to produce several first quality show birds for the Fall and winter shows. I can't resist the temptation to draw up a rough estimate of the number of Chicks I have:

Santams:

all { B. B. Red Amer. Game - 15 (?)
SRP { Self Blue O. E. Game - 5 (?)

Standards:

Black orpington - 10 - SRP

Partridge Rock - 3 - SRP

6 - Tennessee

White Wyandotte - 2 SRP
   6 Tennessee
 Barred Rocks - 4 Wch
   6 Tennessee
 Golden Campines - 5 Wch
 B. B. Red. Modern Game - 6 Wch
 Silver-Laced Wyandotte - 6 Tennessee
 S. C. Rhode Island Reds - 12 - MN

(more or less) 86

Rigorous culling will go on all summer long and I will force myself to de-accession about half of the above listed chicks/young birds.
 It will be difficult but I will do so. I can not keep them all: only the best.

Stiff competition: the Champion & Reserve Champion Rose comb Clean-Legged were both Black Wyandotte bantams.

5/3/92 - The 1992 C.P.A.C. show was a complete washout for SRP's show birds. Not a single Class Champion or Reserve Champion! It was the first time in a couple years that I have not had a single Champion Row bird. The curious thing is that I was fairly sure that I would because "the show team" looked wonderful yesterday. No matter. Curiously, I am not at all troubled by the conspicuous "lack of success" that I enjoyed at the show. As they say, it's only no man's opinion (the judge in question) at one time. On another day and at another time and under a different judge, it could easily have been "my day" with the very same birds. Next time, it will be my birds' moment in the sun, so to speak.

The show was very<sup>a</sup> friendly and enjoyable experience, as usual, and the list of exhibitors is indeed impressive: major breeders from far and near. On more than a few instances, I have the impression that the judges made mistakes, but, then, that's only my opinion.

as always, a pony show is a wonderful learning experience for the breeder / exhibitor who will learn. "Armed" with what I learned at Bloomburg, I will proceed — and enter the Buffalo show and the Finger Lakes show. Had a very nice visit with Bob Whitney at the CPAC show about my win on trios (Black Belgians) at the TTPC show last Fall. It may turn out that I will get 5 Master Exhibitor points, after all, for that Trio win. We shall see. at the 1992 CPAC show, George Schneider had

Champion Bantam on a beautiful Black Cochon cockerel — and that was nice. Roger Vater had Champion Large Fowl on a Dominique Cockerel/cock. There was a national meet of the Dominique Club at the show, so the win on the Dominique was not a particular surprise. DWP I & II had a good time at the show, especially DWP II, who located a good quantity of play - water, as he always does. DWP worked on desk work much of the day.
We "cooped-out" at about 3 P.M. and arrived home at about 5 P.M. We (the birds & the Powell) were delighted to be back home.

5/4/92 - my third day as Mr. Clark at Forest City; I'm glad to have the chance to get my desk work in order. For three days in a row "we" have watched a video of the film "Gloria," which is the heart-stopping story of the first Black Regiment to fight for the North in the Civil War (the 54th Regiment of Massachusetts). It is a wonderful film and, like virtually all Civil War material, reduces me to zero. The film ended during last period and I am still overwhelmed by the impact. I will never be able to deal with the <sup>american</sup> Civil War on an objective level. It goes directly to the core of my being.

My fundamental world perspective seems to be that of rural mid-late-19th century America - and the civil war permeates that emotional landscape.

5/4/92 - 3 P.M.

Through the office, I have just now been asked to substitute for Mrs. Cici tomorrow. Fine. I'll be here.

5/5/92 - F.C., day 29, Mrs. Cici

Donald is at Trunka work today & Scranton also called him, so there was lots of activity at home early this morning. Cold and rainy; it actually snowed a bit as I drove here this morning. At the Hartford Fair board meeting last night, my name was included in the minutes of the April '92 meeting. Very amusing. In the minutes for the April '92 meeting, there is a notation that my cover designs (one of several that I submitted) will appear on the Premium List not this year but "another year," which means, as I understand it, next year. That will be fine. I seem to be making progress in penetrating the closely guarded inner precincts of Harford Fair. I sat with Mrs. Oakley (she came and sat by me, actually) during the meeting and as soon as the meeting adjourned, Bob Simons came right over to me to talk poultry. Anson Tiffany was not present at the meeting and neither were Cecil and Mary Rose. Simons pointed out that the Wayne county and Harford Fair will be back-to-back this year:

589<sup>2</sup>.

Wayne county: 9-15th (coop out on 16th) Harford Twp: 16-22nd (coop in on the 16th, with That will be hard on the birds: two weeks (judging on the 17th)
"on the road," as it were.

Usually there is a week between the two Fairs, but not this year.

I have the clear impression that a "changing of the guard" is taking place in the poultry department at the Hayford Fair. Cecil is no longer involved and it appears that Arson Tiffany is playing more & more of a minor role. Where does that leave it all? In the hands of Bob Simon and J. Robert Powell. I must say that I am very anxious to see my photograph and name on the poultry department page of this year's Premium List, which must have an enormous circulation. Vanité, vanité, toute est vanité. I also have the impression this morning that I am recovering from the very debilitating malady (a. flu?) with which I have been overcome for the past several days. The most dominant symptom of the illness is unbelievable fatigue. We have no energy at all and it is virtually impossible to get enough sleep. We collapse into bed as if we were jumping into a giant vat of cedar down.

Today the "illness" seems to have become a fairly conventional head/throat cold. By tomorrow, I expect that it will be largely gone. Set the Bantam Black Wyandotte eggs under one of the standard Silver-Laced Wyandotte hens last night. That makes

- a total of four setting hens at present:
- American Game bantam - due 5/8; she has two eggs: one a standard and the other a bantam
  - standard B.B. Red Malay - <sup>due 5/24</sup> 8 of her own eggs; I am somewhat doubtful that the eggs are fertile - because the male has been "ill"
  - American Game bantam - due 5/24; she has two 6 standard B.B. Red eggs that I bought from Basil Smith on Sunday for $15.00
  - Silver-Laced Wyandotte - due 5/25; setting on about 8 of my hen's Black Wyandotte eggs; I imagine that about half of them will hatch.

5/5/92 <sup>594</sup>

Dear Lillian & Ralph,

Everywhere I go these days (the Reading show, the Sussex show, the Central Pennsylvania show) I hear people talking about the upcoming Cobleskill show!

My guess is that it will be a very large show. at Blomberg on Sunday <sup>5/3</sup> I overheard a couple standard Game breeders talking and they both said that they had hatched out quite a few extra Chicks this year "so that they would be ready for Cobleskill." The annual meet of the O.E. Game should be an event to remember.

I have about 100 chicks out and about and you know what that means when it comes to feeding time. The feed store sees a lot more of me these days!

Cecil and Mary are both fine, as you probably know. But it's strange to be at their place and not see any chickens.

The decision to make the Cobleskill show a 2-day show was a very good one.

I hope that you are both well and that all is well "out in the poultry yard."

Sincerely,
Robert Powell

5/5/92 <sup>596</sup>

Dear Stoney Knob,

Thanks again for the beautiful chicks. The Banded Rocks are very promising. Unlike most of the Banded Rocks in this part of the country, your birds have tails like they should and not cochin-like fluff instead of tails. All of the Banded chicks are cockerels, which is just what I need.

The Partridge Rocks and White Wyandottes also look very promising. The female Partridge Rocks are especially nice — they are already showing a good deep reddish bay in the hackle.

I am just about finished hatching chicks for the season, although I am always prepared to hatch out a few more, especially if a hen sets. Whenever I can,
I use setting hens to hatch my chicks, particularly when it's a question of some extra special eggs from a mating that I want to get as many chicks from as possible.

Thanks again for the good birds.

Sincerely,

S. Robert Powell

Dear Mrs. Gee,

Your column in the March '92 Poultry Press is wonderful! I admire very much your courage to speak your mind. As we all know, there is plenty of room for improvement in the realm of exhibition poultry. The problem, however, it seems to me, is that in a great many cases, if one were to voice an opinion that is not in agreement with the accepted custom or prevailing notion, he/she would be branded as a trouble maker and then penalized by some ponetry show managements and judges for daring to have an opinion of your own.

I think of myself as a very courageous person and am not at all afraid to make known my opinion in non-ponetry circles. But when it comes to the word of exhibition ponetry, I simply keep my mouth shut and get mad in private.

Here are a few things that really get me mad:

- 1) When the clerk makes the decision & not the judge;

I recently saw a Clerk who more or less "judged" a class in which he (the Clerk) had lots of birds. Not surprisingly, one of the Clerk's birds was named Class Champion.

2) When a show management assigns the wrong judge to a particular class; a judge at a show (APA & ABA licensed) that I know of publicly admitted that he dislikes judging large fowl, and yet that is just what he was asked to do. Not surprisingly, he made a mess of the job.

3) When a show management combines classes to save money on awards. All they have to do is to announce that there must be a minimum number of birds shown in a particular class before awards will be presented.

4) When a class Champion is picked before all the birds in that class are judged.

at a show last year, the S.C. Clean Legged Champion was in Champions' Row, and the New Hampshire Fantails had not yet been judged.

- 5) When one breeder's mis-understanding of what a particular breed or variety should look like (according to the APA Standard) permeates the understanding of a lot of judges and exhibitors to the extent that birds of incorrect type are regarded as being of correct type. I'm thinking about standard white Plymouth Rocks, especially the females. Frequently it seems that one sees female <sup>white</sup> Plymouth Rocks in Champion! Now that don't look like the Plymouth Rocks in the APA Standard, and yet those birds are on Champions. Now. Why is that?

Because that is how a couple of Plymouth Rock breeders think that the females should look — and the opinion of those breeders seems to carry more weight than the APA Standard.

- 6) When a judge's mis-understanding of the standard for a given breed results in one breed being confused for another. In a show that I know of, an APA licensed judge picked a beautiful Australorp Cockerel to be Best of Breed orpington. I honestly think that the judge in question believes that there are no difference between Australops and arpingstone. But what can you do? If you were to file a protest with the show management, you'd be a dead duck from then on.

Well, enough of my complaining.
It wasn't my intention to go on and on and leave when I decided to write to you and congratulate you on your column.

Again, congratulations on your column and for your courage in speaking your mind.

Sincerely,

S. Robert Powell

5/5/92

605

Dear Bart,

Your article, "applying the standard, in the March '92 Poultry Press is right on target. I couldn't agree with you more, especially on the point of <sup>not</sup> breeding and judging in accordance with the standard of perfection but in accordance with what is popular.

In this part of the country, we see a lot of standard White Rocks in champions' Now that don't look like the White Rocks in the APA standard — especially the females. The reason, of course, is that there are a couple of breeders here in the East who erroneously believe that White Rock females should have lots of cushion and tails carried at or below the horizontal. And the mis-understanding of those "big name" breeders seem to intimidate lots of judges with the inevitable result that the APA Standard of Perfection is disregarded.

In a poultry show that I know of, an APA licensed judge picked a beautiful Australorp cockerel as Best of Breed orpington and then Champion English.

True, an Australorp is an English class bird, as we all know, but an Australorp is not an arlington. But what can you do? If one were to file a protest, he/she would be a dead duck, because you would forever be branded as a trouble maker.

I think of myself as a very courageous person and am not at all afraid to make known my opinion in non-poultry circles. But when it comes to the realm of exhibition poultry, I simply keep my mouth shut and get mad in private (or write letters).

While I'm at it (forgive me for going on & on in this vein), here are a couple of other things that really get me "boiling":

1) When the Clerk makes the decisions and not the judge; I recently watched a clerk who more or less judged a class in which he (the clerk) had lots of birds. Not surprisingly, the clerk picked one of his own birds as Class Champion.

2) When a show management assigns the wrong judge to a particular class or division. a judge (APA & ABA licensed) at a show that I know of publicly admitted that he strongly dislikes judging large fowl and yet that is just what he was asked to do. Not surprisingly, he made a mess of the job.

3) When a show management combines classes to save money on awards.

4) When a class Champion is picked before all the birds in the class are judged. at a show last year, the S.C. Clean-legged Champion was up in Champion's <sup>610</sup> 6.

Now and the New Hampshire bantams had not yet been judged.

Well, enough of my complaining.
That was not my intention in writing to you. But you are one of the few poultry people
I know in whose direction
I can "let off some steam" and not have to worry about retaliation.

I wrote to say that your articles are right on target and that I couldn't agree with you more.

Sincerely,

Robert

A HAPPY ENDING

A 'Lost Generation' Scholar of American Poetry Ends His Long Odyssey for a Place in Academe

By SCOTT HELLER

Seventeen years and hundreds of failed job applications after finishing his Ph.D., Edward Brunner got a full-time teaching post this year.

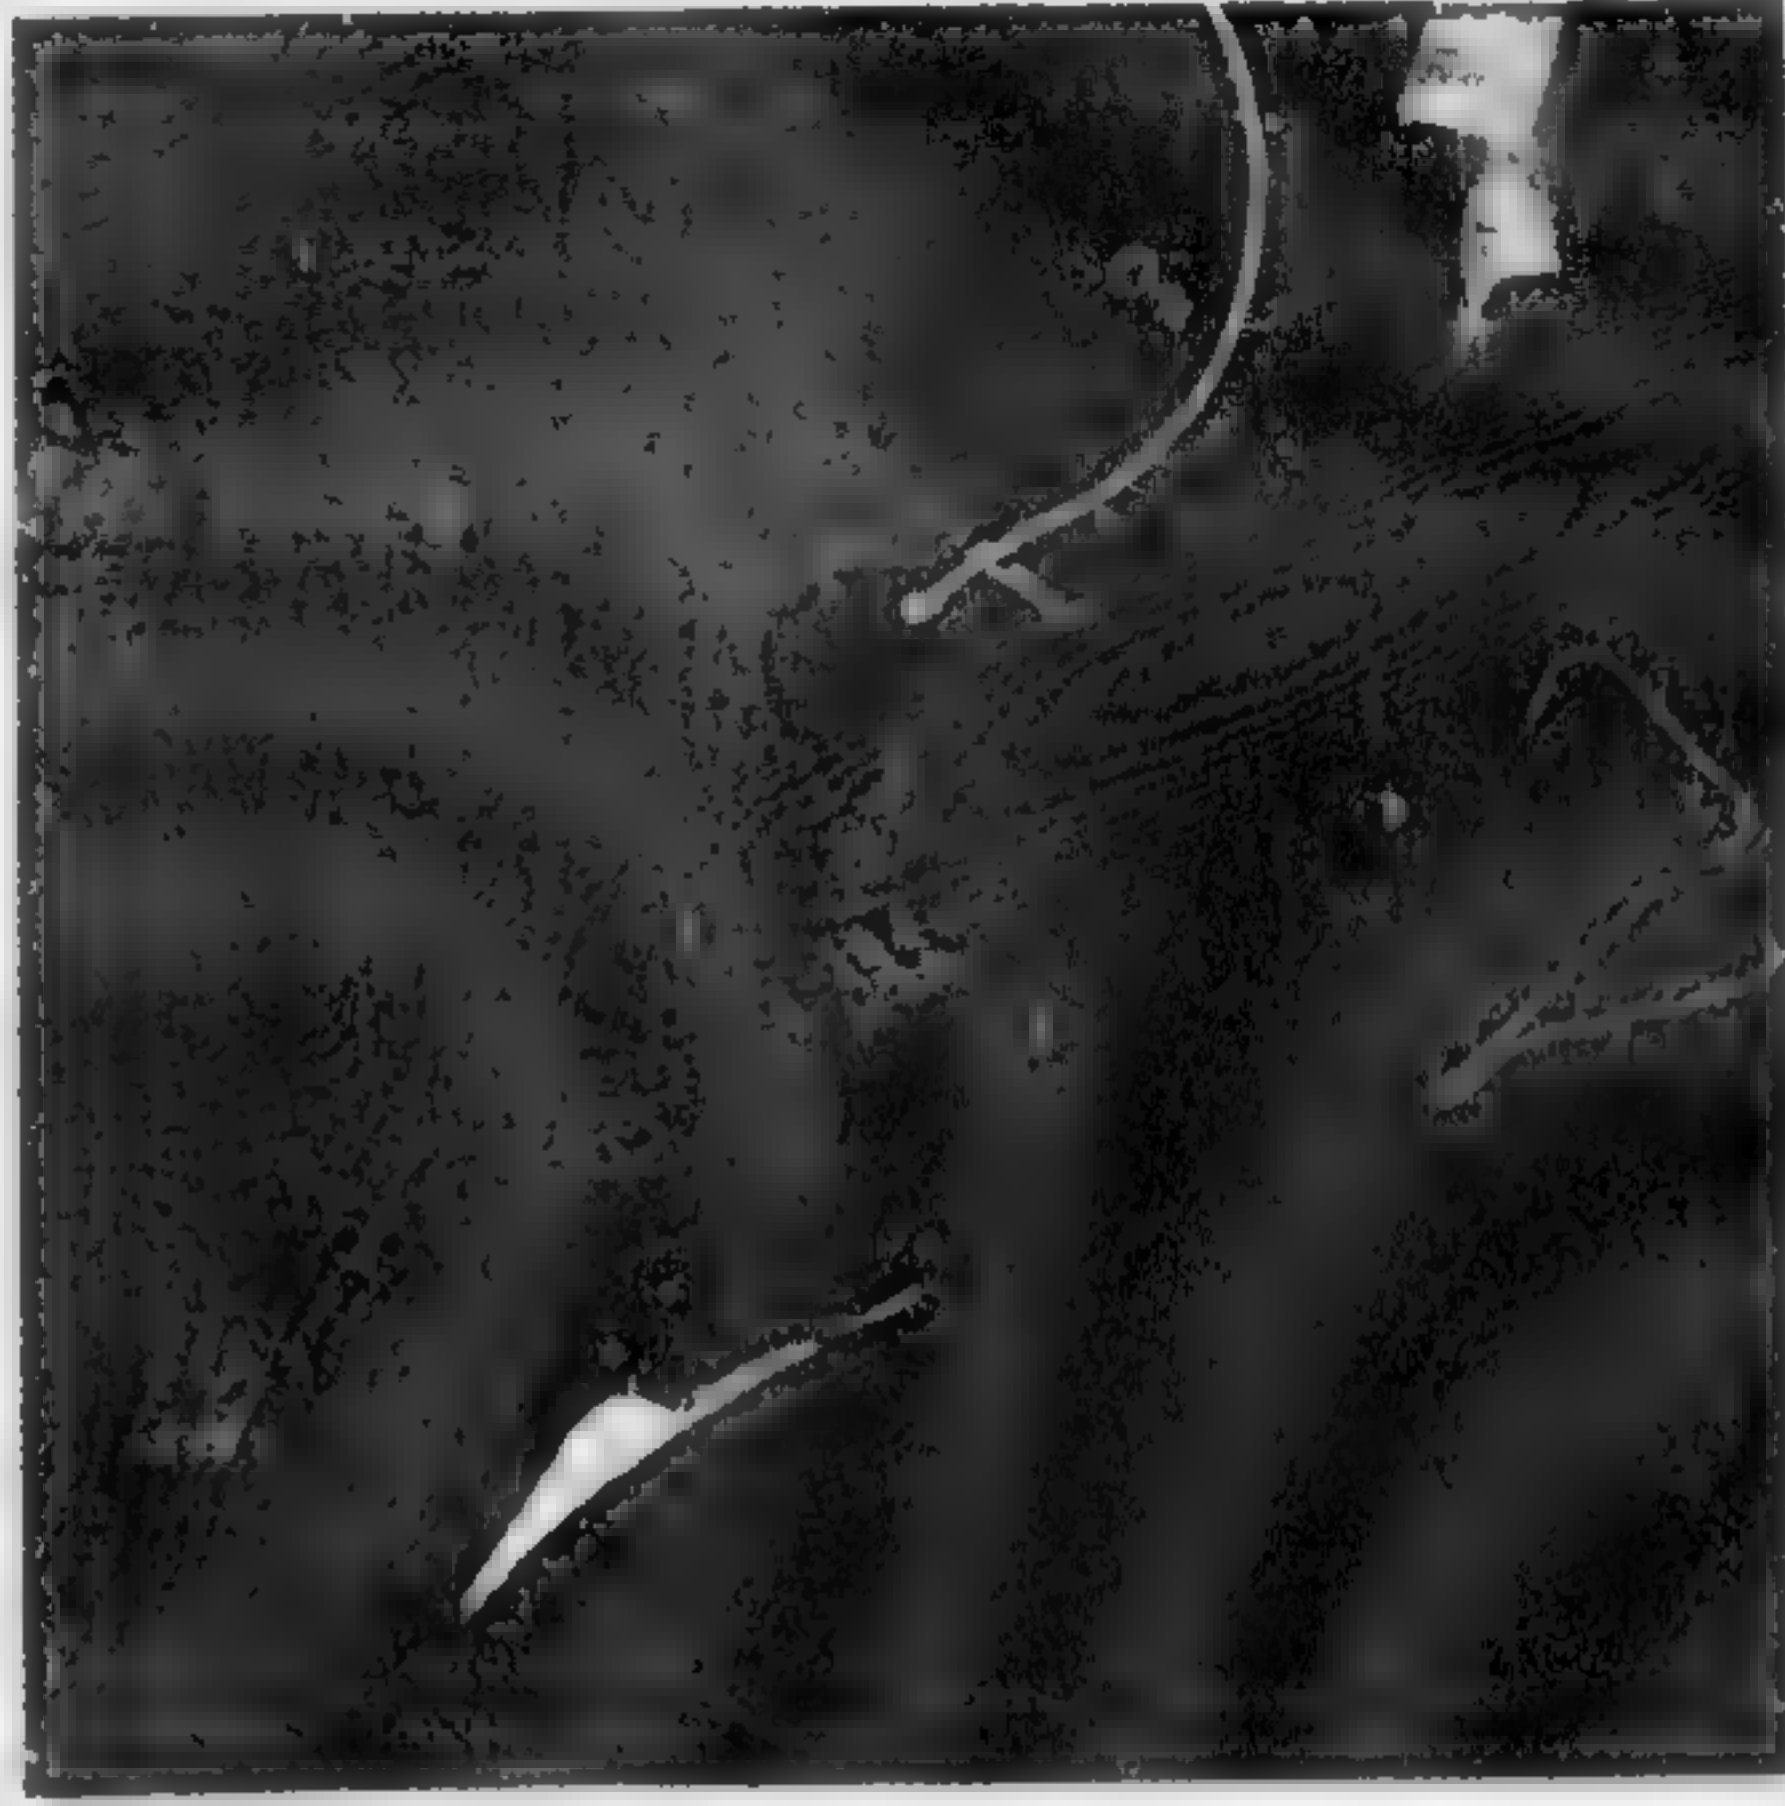

He teaches modern American poetry at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale. Because he had already published two books, he was appointed as an associate professor and may apply for tenure early.

The odd jobs, the years working as a railroad dispatcher, a payroll clerk, and a county auditor, are behind him now. Reading poetry during his coffee breaks is a thing of the past. He is a scholar and teacher, full time. "Suddenly, all the work I'd been doing in the corners of my life is my life," he said.

Mr. Brunner, who is 46 years old, was a card-carrying member of academe's "lost generation," the humanities scholars who got degrees in the 1960's and early 1970's and never found steady academic work. Since finishing his doctorate at the University of Iowa in 1974, he had steadily tried to get an academic job, with no success (The Chronicle, May 23, 1990).

His fortunes changed in fall 1990, when he spotted a teaching opening in 20th-century literature in the Modern Language Association's job listings. He interviewed at the annual meeting in Chicago that December.

Only once before was Mr. Brunner invited to interviews at the MLA conference. That year, he couldn't get the time off from his Iowa City auditor's job to go.

Chicago was close enough for Mr. Brunner to sneak away. Later, he visited the Carbondale campus, and discussed his research with faculty members and students. The university made an offer, and Mr. Brunner made the move.

He is something of an academic Rip Van Winkle, waking up in a new scholarly world. But he has been an active scholar all along. Since finishing graduate school, he has published several journal articles and books on the poets Hart Crane and W. S. Merwin.

MLA Book Award in 1986

He wrote much of the Crane book while working for the Rock Island Railroad. The book won a 1986 MLA award for best scholarly work by an independent researcher.

Mr. Brunner has had to catch up with recent literary theories and the new interest in multiculturalism. He teaches Indian captivity narratives in an American literature survey course, and said he noticed that more scholars are interested in Melville's Civil War poetry than he remembers from his days in graduate school. Gone, he said, are the poetry of Sidney Lanier and the journal writings of John Woolman.

The professor believes that Southern Illinois hired him when so many other universities didn't because the campus attracts students who have been away from higher education for a while. "Everyone is sort of used to people whose careers have been interrupted," he said.

'We Thought We Were Lucky'

The long stretches on his résumé without academic employment didn't hurt, said Richard F. Peterson, chairman of the English department. "We thought we were lucky that someone so articulate and who had done so much scholarship was available," Mr. Peterson said. Mr. Brunner is one of nine professors hired by the department this year to replace faculty members who retired, left, or died.

Mr. Brunner has begun work on a third book, about the academic poetry of the 1950's, work that now receives less attention than that of the Beat poets. Next year, Mr. Brunner will teach his first graduate course—on the poets John Berryman, Robert Lowell, and Elizabeth Bishop.

"I wouldn't have thought it would have worked out quite so nicely," he said.

"It's a happy ending in Ed's case," Mr. Peterson added. "I just worry about all the others." ■

Dear Dr. Brunner:

Your success in securing a full-time position in the academic community is wonderful. Congratulations!

Until I read Scott Heller's article about you ("A 'Lost Generation' Scholar of American Poetry Ends His Long Odyssey for a Place in Academe," Chronicle of Higher Education, April 15, 1992, p. A15), I was under the impression, believe it or not, that I was one of a small number of Ph.D's who have been trying for years to find a full-time teaching post in higher education. Apparently there are hundreds (maybe thousands) of members of academe's "lost generation."

My resume (copy enclosed) tells the story. At any given time, in recent years, I have about 20 applications on file for full-time teaching jobs. Every couple of months, after having received a hand full of rejection letters or non-responses from schools with announced openings in my field, I become dis-heartened and declare my search to be a futile undertaking. Then I come across an announcement for an opening in French in the CHE or the MLA list and hope springs anew within my breast.

I am encouraged and emotionally strengthened by your success and will continue my search.

Sincerely,

S. Robert Powell

TO THE EDITOR:

Scott Heller's story in the April 15 Chronicle ("A 'Lost Generation' Scholar of American Poetry Ends His Long Odyssey for a Place in Academe") about Edward Brunner's success in securing a full-time teaching post at Southern Illinois University is inspiring. Until I read Scott Heller's article, I was under the impression, believe it or not, that I was one of a small number of Ph.D.'s who finished their degrees in the humanities in the 1960's or early 1970's who have never found full-time academic posts. Apparently there are hundreds, possibly thousands, of members of academe's "lost generation."

Thanks to Scott Heller's story about Dr. Brunner's success, I am encouraged and emotionally strengthened and will continue my search for a full-time position in the academic community.

Gentlemen:

I have just now had a phone call from a guy whose first name is Klement (phone 815-648-2758).

He wants to buy a standard Black orpington cock or Cockerel that is from the Brasleton blood line.

I don't have any extra males right now. If you have one, call him at the number given above. He seems like a good guy.

Sincerely,

Robert Powell

Film legend Marlene Dietrich dies

ASSOCIATED PRESS

PARIS — Marlene Dietrich, the Berlin-born film legend whose husky voice and smoldering eyes captivated audiences for more than four decades, died Wednesday at her home in Paris. She was 90.

Her attorney, Jacques Kam, told journalists gathered outside the apartment she simply "died of old age." He said Dietrich was "lucid and conscious to the end," and died surrounded by relatives and close friends.

Paul Riva, one of Dietrich's four grandsons, said she would be buried in Berlin by her mother's grave. The actress abandoned her German homeland during World War II to embrace the anti-Nazi cause, and had sworn never to return.

A boldly intelligent woman who mastered her image in the camera eye, Dietrich was an enigmatic blend of public glamour queen and private woman.

Her close friend Ernest Hemingway christened her "the Kraut." She epitomized the Hemingway heroine — tough, uncompromising and romantic.

For more than 40 years, Dietrich entranced film, theater and nightclub audiences with roles as diverse as the cool, continental temptress Lola-Lola in "The Blue Angel," and the hot-tempered Wild West saloon queen, Frenchy, in "Destry Rides Again."

"I played whores," she once remarked. "I never played any recommendable character."

Arriving in Hollywood in the 1930s at a time when the film capital was importing a number of exotic actresses, Dietrich outlasted most of them. She reached the height of her film career in the '30s and '40s with "Shanghai Express," "Morocco," "The Blond Venus," "Angel" and "The Flame of New Orleans."

Dietrich defied Adolf Hitler's call to return home to Germany during World War II, and performed instead for U.S. troops in Berlin.

Her interpretation of the melancholy World War II song, "Lili Marlene" is one of the most enduring legacies of the war.

Dietrich's career as a night-club singer ended in 1975 when she broke her leg in Australia, and she made her last film in 1978. In recent years she was rarely seen in public, choosing to come and go through the building's basement garage.

Dietrich's body was taken from her fashionable apartment house by the Champs Elysees draped in a French Tricolor, in accordance with her wishes, Riva said. He refuted characterizations of his grandmother as a recluse. "There never was a Greta Garbo syndrome," he said. She "never said, 'I want to be alone.' She felt she was finished with her professional career."

Riva noted that Dietrich died on the eve of the 45th Cannes Film Festival, the premier event of France's film industry. Dietrich was featured on the official poster this year.

Jimmy Stewart, Dietrich's costar in the 1939 film "Destry Rides Again," described her Wednesday from his home in Beverly Hills, Calif., as "a complete movie actress. She amazed the cameraman because she knew so much about the lighting. . . . She was something very special in my opinion in the history of the motion picture."

Janet Leigh, who starred with Dietrich in "Touch of Evil" in 1958 called her "an absolute star. . . . She knew her face. She knew her body. She knew how to say a word that would best contour her face. She was absolutely savvy about that."

Off camera, Dietrich set fashion trends with casually elegant pants outfits and outlandish hats. She kept gossip columnists busy by socializing with artists and writers as well as her directors and leading men.

Marlene Dietrich was born Maria Magdalene von Losch in Berlin on Dec. 27, 1901, according to the Berlin registry. Other versions said she was born in 1902 and 1904, and Dietrich herself never admitted her true age.

The daughter of a prominent German family, young Marlene attended school in Berlin and Weimar, where she showed unusual musical promise. She planned to be a concert violinist until she developed a tumor on a nerve in her left wrist at 17.

She turned to the stage instead, winning a bit part in "The Taming of the Shrew." While playing as an extra in a Berlin film studio, she met her husband, Rudolph Seiber, an assistant director.

They were married in 1925, and had one child, Maria Riva. The birth of a grandson in 1948 earned Dietrich the affectionate title, "The World's Most Glamorous Grandmother" — which she intensely disliked.

Despite Dietrich's well-publicized love affairs and the fact that they lived apart, she remained married to Seiber until his death in 1976.

Her acting break came in 1930, when the young Viennese director Josef von Sternberg persuaded her to take the lead in his film "The Blue Angel." Her performance as the sultry Lola-Lola launched the Dietrich legend and helped make "The Blue Angel" a film classic.

Hollywood took note, and a contract with Paramount Pictures followed.

Reports published in 1977 said Dietrich recorded songs containing coded messages for the U.S. Office of Strategic Services spy teams.

5/8/92 - F.C., or Lynn Conrad, day 30 <sup>622</sup>

Yesterday another standard Partridge Rock chick hatched out, under an American Gamebantam hen; also a little American Game. That is wonderful news. With my Partridge Rocks and those that I have from Tennessee, I will be in great shape for the breeding season next year. The same is true for the standard Black orpington. Got a phone call at 10 P.M. last night from a young man named Clement, in Chicago, who wanted to buy a standard Black orpington cock from me, provided my birds' bloodline is the Ralph Bagleton line. It is, but I don't have an extra male. It was pleasant and amusing to receive an oprington phone call. I referred Klement to the Stoneback, who may have some birds available.

Klement does not want any of Tommy Stanley's bloodline. He (Stanley) apparently crossed in australorp blood into his oprington a few years ago in order to increase fertility.
Klement reported that Cecil Moore in Texas is the top man in standard Black and White oprington these days.
Klement has some Brasletton-line Blacks but his breeding male has been i and he needs a new male. Very feathering that he should phone me. Clement reported that he has Golden-laced, Red, Birchen and Partridge Orpingtons! if you please. A Birchen Orpington must be a very beautiful sight to see. I am very fond of the Birchen color pattern (also the Brown Red color pattern) and an Orpington in those colors must be a wonder! It seems that there is new enthusiasm for standard Orpington these days and that's grand.

624 3.

Made the final decision today to enter the Buffalo show on 5/17; I will enter 14 birds and will have to drive up on Saturday afternoon/evening.

Do Not Reject Me in My Old Age

Do not reject me in my old age,
when my strength is spent,
forsake me not.
For my enemies speak concerning me,
and those who lie in wait to ambush my soul
conspire together and say:
"God has forsaken him;
pursue and seize him.
for there is none to deliver him."
O my God, be not far from me.
O my God, make haste to help me.
May those who dishonor my soul be put to shame and consumed!

Open to Me the Doors of Repentance

Open to me the doors of repentance, O Life-Giver;
for my spirit hastens early towards Thy holy temple, bearing the temple of my body all defiled;
but in Thy compassion purify me
by Thy gracious mercy.

Lead me on the path of salvation, O Theotokos, for I have profaned my soul with shameful sins and have wasted my life in slothfulness;
but by Thy intercessions, deliver me from all uncleanness.

When I ponder on the multitude of evil things I have done, wretch that I am,

I tremble at the fearful Day of Judgment;
but trusting in the mercy of Thy graciousness,
like David I cry to Thee:

"Have mercy on me, O God, according to Thy great mercy."

Lord, Make Me to Know My End

Lord, make me to know my end.
 and what is the measure of my days.
 that I may know how frail I am.
 Indeed, Thou hast made my days as handbreadths.
 and my age is as nothing before Thee.
 Surely all things are vanity...
 Man walks about like a shadow;
 surely he busies himself in vain: he heaps up riches,
 and does not know who will gather them.

Remove Thy plague from me;
 I am consumed by the blow of Thy hand.
 Hear my prayer, O Lord,
 and give ear to my cry:
 do not be silent at my tears.

Remove Thy gaze from me, that I may regain strength.
 before I depart and be no more.

By the Rivers of Babylon

By the rivers of Babylon, there we sat down and wept, when we remembered Zion.
On the poplars in its midst we hung up our lyres.
For there our captors inquired about the words of our songs, and those who led us requested singing from us, saying:
"Sing us some hymns of Zion!"
How shall we sing the Lord's song in a foreign land?
If I forget you, O Jerusalem, may my right hand wither...
Remember, O Lord, what the Sons of Edom said on the day of Jerusalem:
"Destroy it, destroy it, down to its foundations!"
O Daughter of Babylon, most wretched one!
Blessed is he who repays you with what you have done to us!
Blessed is he who takes your infants and dashes them against the stone!

Old-Fashioned Roses

Nostalgic beauties from Victorian and French gardens!

These hard-to-find favorites, dating back to the 1800's are much in demand today and are a must for discerning gardeners who have a sunny spot in the garden. They produce an abundance of long-lasting, deliciously fragrant, soft colored flowers that blend well in the landscape. They are also lovely in informal mass arrangements like those so popular in the Victorian era. They start flowering soon after the last frost in spring; many will continue blooming through summer, with a big flush of flowers in the fall. They produce a magnificent landscape effect in the rose garden, as a hedge, background plantings for the border or to frame an entrance to a rose or other formal garden. Extremely hardy, zones 4-10, they are easy to grow in any ordinary garden soil, more tolerant of heat and drought and less troubled by insects and diseases than Hybrid Tea Roses. Simply cut back 1/3 of stems each spring to promote strong growth and remove old flowering wood. Order early to make sure you get the varieties of your choice.

E40234-3—Konigin von Danemarck. (Queen of Denmark; Rosa alba relative). 2 1/2 to 3-inch rose-pink flowers are centered with button eyes, have slightly reflexed petals giving each individual bloom a look of perfection. Buds are daintily cupped and long-lasting. Vigorous plants 4 to 5 feet tall have beautiful grey-green foliage. Introduced in 1826.

E40235-5—Madame Isaac Pereire. (Bourbon). Huge, deep pink flowers, 4 to 5 inches across, are cupped at first and quartered on opening with petal edges rolled back. Extremely fragrant, it flowers well in autumn as well as early spring. 7 foot plants are very vigorous with dark green foliage. Introduced in 1880.

E40232-9—Reine des Violettes. (Hybrid Perpetual). An unusual color in roses — deep velvet rose turning with time to soft Parma-violet. These spectacular, wide-spreading blooms, 2 1/2 to 3 inches across are displayed to perfection against grey-green foliage. Flowers heavily again and again on almost thornless canes, and grows 6 to 8 feet tall and 4 feet across. Introduced in 1860.

E40231-7—Madame Hardy. (Damask). 2 1/2 to 3-inch double flowers are lightly tinted blush pink on opening, maturing to pure white with green button eye. A very unusual rose and described by Graham Thomas, famed British Old Rose authority, as, "A thing of rare beauty — it has no peer." Vigorous plants, 4 to 6-feet tall with rich dark green foliage are covered in June with these deliciously fragrant flowers scented with a hint of lemon. Introduced in 1832.

E40233-1—La Reine Victoria. (Bourbon). This beauty is warm rose-pink, one of the most beautiful and best-loved of the Old Roses. Growing in the cabbage rose form so beloved by the Victorians, the fragrant chalice-shaped or cupped flowers have incurved petals toward the center and hold their form well. Flowers are 2 1/2 to 3 inches across on slender 5-foot plants; flower repeatedly throughout the summer. Introduced in 1872.

Dear Board Member:

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors will be held at 6:45 p.m. on Tuesday, May 19, at the library. Please note the time change. We are having our "Community Meeting" at 7:30 p.m. on the same evening. The board meeting will be brier to allow time for the public meeting.

It was decided at April's meeting to have this special public meeting to formally introduce the plans of the new library and the Capital Fund Drive for the building.

ACADEMIC DRESS: The traditional costume worn at commencement exercises is a record of the academic achievement of the individuals taking part. Its use originated at English and European universities during the twelfth and thirteenth centuries. Medieval institutions of higher learning were customarily operated by monastic orders, and students as well as faculty wore the habit of monks.

The hood seems to have developed from those worn by monks to protect their shaved heads in the winter and as a container in which to collect alms. The mortar-board cap is a modification of the skull caps also worn by the monks of the Middle Ages.

The level of degree is indicated by the gown's cut. Doctoral gowns have full sleeves which are round and open. Gowns worn by the Masters have long, closed, somewhat fuller sleeves, with an arc near the bottom; the arm goes through a slit, giving the appearance of short sleeves. Bachelor gowns have long pointed sleeves. Both the Bachelor's and Master's gowns are untrimmed, but the Doctor's is faced in front with velvet, either black or in a color to indicate the nature of the degree; three velvet bars adorn each sleeve. The gold tassel on the cap also signifies the Doctorate.

The most significant part of the academic dress is the hood; the longer the hood, the more advanced the degree. The color of the velvet border indicates the academic field: Arts, white; Theology, scarlet; Law, purple; Medicine, green; Music, pink; Philosophy, dark blue; Science, golden yellow; Engineering, orange; Economics, copper; Public Health, salmon pink; Fine Arts, brown; Accountancy and Commerce, drab; Library Science, lemon. The colors of the lining inside the hood indicate the school which granted the degree; Penn State's are dark blue and white.

The financial rewards of showing birds are very modest, but very gratifying.

5/17/92 - the Buffalo show; about 5<sup>654</sup> hours each way. Nice show ball - all standards were single decked but the cages were a little on the small side. Don Krake judged all the standards and he was very fussy; lots of birds were marked down for no reason or another, which is good. He has a nice easy-going personality. Ralph Beamer is a bit rigid but ok. We can learn from Don Krake's remarks on the coop tags.

We three (PWP I & II & SRP) spent Saturday night at the Bell-air, Room 7; $40.00. Very pleasant. We made a stop at the nearby grocery store and dined "at home" which was very pleasant. after a long wait at the show hall on Saturday afternoon/evening, we finally got the birds in the show cages.

Someone from the show management was supposed to meet me at 6 PM but they did not. We waited & waited and waited. Finally, I got a man to open up the show hall and allow us to coop-in. at the time I was very distressed but at the moment it all seems far away.

People at the show were generally very friendly. Most of the exhibitors know me and I know them and there is always poultry talk.

My birds were in great condition and, with the exception of the standard Partridge Rock cock, showed very well. The drive up was very easy and enjoyable — as was the trip home. I am very pleased that "Madame Minerva" was named Reserve Champion Large Fowl of the show. She is such a good bird & regularly wins. She is four years old and still looks as fresh and young as a pullet.

A Mr Ray Ravazzolo, 228 Fox Road, Toronto, Ontario, CANADA L0S-1C0, expressed an interest in getting some of my hen's American Game eggs in the spring. That will be fine.

Dear Robert;

I recieved your letter today. Thank You!

I've been going to write you. I was judging in Eugene, OR, a couple of weeks ago, and I judged the Uccle Bantams. I was telling them about this guy in Pennsylvania who had written/sent me this article. They were very impressed and said that you were absolutely correct. They also hoped that you have followed through with sending your article to P. Press. They were actually pronouncing it correctly and wished everyone would do the same. I also hope that you have sent the article to P. Press.

You also have brought up four very good points. I have been at shows that have done the exuct same things. I was exhibiting at a show several years ago and the clerk actually picked the show champion and Reserve champion. I think we have four good topics for future P. Press articles.

Keep in touch!
Thank You, again!

Yours,
Bart

Dear Bill,

Congratulations on a successful show. Everything went very well. I didn't hear any negative comments from anyone.

I liked very much the way the awards presentation was handled. It was the best organized awards Ceremony that I have ever attended. The fact that the show building was locked made it possible for everyone to relax during the Awards Ceremony.

Enclosed is an ad for the B&WNY space ad that will accompany the show report in Poetry Press.

Dear Harold,

The breeder of standard B.B. Red

Phone 215-965-5217

I know that he has hatched

this fall.

Dear Basil,

at the Buffalo & Western New York show on 5/17/92, Harold Knapp from East Bethany, NY, asked me if I knew anyone who has good standard B. B. Red Malays.

I told him about your beautiful birds and gave him your address. He probably will be in touch with you.

It looks like three or four of the 6 Malay eggs that I got from you at Bloomsburg will hatch on Saturday.

5/19/92<sup>67x</sup>

Dear Arlene,

I'm trying to determine if the APA will award me any Master Exhibitor points for my win on the Golden Campine at the Sussex Show this Spring.

My Golden Campine pullet was named Champion AOSB. Were there 25 or more birds in that class? Were there more than 750 birds in the show?

I've got 4 Partridge Rock pullets and 4 Cockerels that look very promising. A couple of them will, I hope, be ready for Flemington this Fall.

I showed at the Buffalo & Western New York show this past weekend (Don Krahe & Ralph Seamer, judging) and my birds did very well: Champion English, Champion Mediterranean and Champion Modern Game Bantam. The Champion Mediterranean (a single Comb Black Minorca hen) was named Reserve Champion Large Fowl of the show.

I have enclosed a return envelope for your convenience in answering my two questions on the Jersey show.

Sincerely,
Robert Powell

When? I'm ready. Perhaps this is an "indication" that I should not fail to purchase some lottery tickets for tonight's drawing. Several million dollars would be very useful at present.

these days
I seem to be deluged, by other people and their demands on my time and energy. My inclination is to cry out at the top of my lungs the word:

ENOUGH!

The lilacs are coming out now. Such a wonderful fragrance! I love to stand inside a lilac bush in flower. Also, the first Columbine are now out. The 20 tulips that I planted in the garden in the front yard were/are very beautiful. They have been in full bloom for about 10 days. I am very pleased. A couple of the tulips have lost some of their petals but several are still quite beautiful.

The American Elm that I gave DWP II for his birthday this year is coming into leaf, I am very pleased to report. The leaf buds are about to open any day now. I shall have to make a big fuss over the tree with DWP II.

Elsewhere in the flower garden, everything is growing beautifully. The garden should be a sight to behold all summer long. There are about 60 Asiatic lilies in one of the beds and they should be a veritable show stopper when they come out. The Iris should also be something very special.

Tree Swallows have settled into the three houses that I put up and I believe that they are all now incubating eggs. By early July, then young will be out and about and the Tree Swallows will suddenly disappear. I presume that they "wander" after rearing their young.

5/21/92 - a week or so ago, I dug a garden about 4' wide & 25' long - behind the two small chicken coops and the tippler loft. I put a fence about 18" high around the plot and therein today I planted 6 "Jet Star" tomato plants that Dad gave me. He planted 6 of the same variety on the west side of the house in the asher along the foundation. We will, I guess, have an unofficial contest to see who has the first ripe tomato - probably around the end of July. I also planted about 50 giant Sunflowers (Helianthus giganteus) from Park Seed Co., Greenwood, S.C. also, quite a number of pole beans of three varieties: Christmas Lima Beans, Kentucky Wonder Pole

Beans, and Scarlet Runner Beans.

I have installed three sturdy posts in the ground around each tomato plant so that the growing plants can be tied up and kept off the ground. When the pole beans come up, I will have to take action with some kind of a trellis system for them to grow on. In the meantime, everything is under good control in the garden — and it will stay that way all summer. I will plant some Basil and some parsley also: the plan is to make lots of Tomato juice and Tomato Sauce.

Meeting of the Board of Directors
Carbondale Public Library
April 21, 1992

The April 21, 1992 meeting of the Board of Directors of the Carbondale Public Library was called to order at 7:35 P.M. by Henry J. Loftus, Jr., Vice President of the Board. Present were Bob Vandenberg, Joseph Pascoe, Aubrey Staple, Anne Muldoon, Ruth Miley, Loretta Wilczynski, Donald Mancuso, Henry J. Loftus, Jr., and S. Robert Powell. The Recording Secretary read the minutes of the March 17, 1992 meeting of the Board. It was moved (Mancuso) and seconded (Pascoe) that the minutes be approved as read. The motion carried. The Treasurer's Report for March 1992 was read by Aubrey Staple. It was moved (Mancuso) and seconded (Wilczynski) that the Treasurer's Report be approved as read and placed on file. The motion carried.

The Library Director, Anne Muldoon, was asked if she had anything to report to the Board. The LD read a letter, dated March 9, 1992, that the Carbondale Library received from the Abington Community Library. In that letter, the CPL was thanked by the Abington Community Library for the beautiful floral arrangement that the CPL sent to the Abington library on the occasion of the opening of their new building. Anne Muldoon also read a letter, dated March 20, 1992, from Jon A. Metta of the First Eastern Bank in which the FEB declared its availability to provide underwriting and financial advisory services to the CPL in carrying out its (CPL) proposed building program. A written communication to the CPL from the Ames Department Store (Ron Doucette, Manager) was also read by the Library Director. By means of that communication, the CPL was invited to participate in the 2nd Annual Community Night at the Ames Department Store, Carbondale, on April 26, 1992, from 6 to 10 P.M. The Library was invited to set up a card table at the Ames Department Store and to promote the Library and its services to the public. Hank Loftus suggested that the Library's plans for the new building could be spread out on a card table and available for examination by the public. Finally, the Library Director read a letter, dated April 16, 1992, from Sally Felix to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bonacci regarding the proposed new CPL building. In that letter, Ms. Felix reports that the County Library Board reviewed the Foundation Report done by Kutch, Brocavich & Associates. That report indicates that there are no mine-related problems at the 46 River Street site. The report, however, does indicate that there is a stratum of soil which is unsuitable for foundation support for a public library building, which means that a deeper foundation will have to be laid at additional cost. The probable extra cost for the deeper foundation will be $20,000.

Henry Loftus reported that President Marty Langan has visited Congressman McDade's office and spoken therein of the CPL's proposed building. ML learned that the Congressman is aware of the CPL's building plans and has mentioned them in a speech that he has given.

It was reported that a quotation of $1,500 per year has been given by Price Insurance Company, Carbondale, for liability insurance for the Directors of the Carbondale Public Library. Several members of the Board said that it would be a good idea to have such insurance during the building campaign for the new building.

OLD BUSINESS:

Hank Loftus reported that there are two or three openings on the Board of the Library at present and that Jim Burke, who teaches at the Roosevelt School, has expressed an interest in becoming a member of the Board.

The Finance Committee has begun "shopping around" for a $125,000 loan for 15 years that the County wants the CPL to take out for the purchase of the land upon which the new Library building will be constructed. (Such a loan will be taken out in the name of the CPL and the County will re-imburse the CPL the amount paid on a monthly basis.)

Fund Raising: Vice President Loftus reported that the Library's bulk mailing permit will be re-activated at the Carbondale Post Office. The bulk mailing permit will be useful to the CPL in communicating with carefully targeted portions of the general public. Several hundred individuals and organizations will be invited to a public informational meeting to see and examine the plans for the new Library building. Hank Loftus said that Betty Doud, who is in charge of the bingos at St. Rose Church, would be a good person to get involved in the fund raising project for the new Library building. A tentative date for such a public informational meeting was set at May 19th at 7:30 P.M. at the CPL at 24 Sixth Avenue (with a preliminary work session for the public meeting to take place on April 28, at 7:30 P.M. at the Library). Bob Vandenberg said that we should have a fact sheet ready for that meeting so that we are all talking about the same ideas and objectives.

NEW BUSINESS:

Hank Loftus recommended that we repair the water-damaged plaster on the first and second floors of the Library building before we make any efforts to sell the building. Bob Vandenberg said that he would speak with Carbondale Decorating about doing the work.

With no other business to discuss, the April 21, 1992 meeting of the Board of Directors of the Carbondale Public Library was adjourned (motion by Vandenberg, second by Pascoe) at 8:55 P.M.

Respectfully submitted,

S. Robert Powell
Recording Secretary

Dear Sirs; S. Robert Powell, Sec., & Francis Curtis III, President,

Ronald Curtis Ewing, eldest son of Curtis M. Ewing, eldest son of Augusta Bessie Curtis Ewing, and myself youngest son of Augusta, Gary E. Ewing will be attending the Grismold Reunion on August 15th, 1992. I hope we have the correct date. We plan to stay at Starlight Lake and will be hard pressed to provide anything for the Potluck.

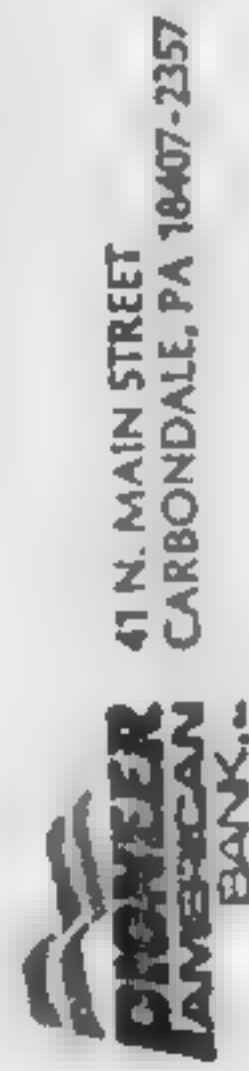

I imagine you have been notified of these deaths: Pearl Curtis Brudon, Dec. '91; Nellie Curtis Lawson, '91. In response to a question in the newsletter: my cousin Eileen Brudon Weick is the elder daughter of Pearl Brudon.

Looking forward to meeting you and the others in August.

Respectfully Gary E. Ewing

THE EMERGENCY UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION (EUC) PROGRAM MAY END

Unless extended by Federal law, the EUC Program will phase out as follows:

1. EUC Claims Effective June 7, 1992 or Before: If you do not receive EUC for the week(s) ending June 13, June 20, and/or June 27, 1992, the maximum amount of EUC that you may receive will be reduced. 33-week claims will become 20-week claims; 20.8-week claims will become 16-week claims. This revision will apply to all weeks subsequent to the break in your claim series. If you had already received the revised amount, you will be ineligible for further EUC.
2. New EUC Claims Effective On or After June 14, 1992: The maximum amount of EUC that you may receive will be 20 or 16 weeks.
3. No new EUC claims may be effective after June 28, 1992.
4. EUC for Weeks Ending July 4, 1992 and Thereafter: If you receive EUC for the week ending July 4, 1992, you may continue to collect benefits until your financial eligibility is exhausted as long as you claim and receive EUC for every consecutive week thereafter. If a break in your claim series occurs after July 4, 1992, you will be ineligible for further EUC.

If you are not entitled to EUC but remain unemployed, you may establish another regular UC claim when your benefit year ends if you meet all of the eligibility requirements. You may also continue to receive reemployment services through your local Job Center. For further details, ask about the EUC Program termination at your local Job Center.

What are the Humanities? The Humanities are a spatially and temporally situated record of how we, Homo sapiens, have tried to make moral, spiritual and intellectual sense of the world; they are a record of how Homo sapiens has understood experience.

The Humanities are, in varying degrees, a response to the fundamental and perennial question: What does it mean to be human? That question will be asked as long as we exist as a species. No single response is definitive/complete; rather, it is provisional/incomplete; it is a clue. The Humanities reveal how people have tried to make moral, spiritual and intellectual sense of a world in which irrationality, despair, loneliness, and death are as conspicuous as birth, friendship, hope and reason. We learn how individuals or societies define the moral life and try to attain it, attempt to reconcile freedom and the responsibilities of citizenship, and express themselves artistically by awakening a sense of what it might be like to be someone else or to live in another time or culture. The Humanities tell us about ourselves, stretch our imagination, and enrich our experience. They increase our distinctively human potential.

The content of works in the Humanities is always the same (ten primary contents for art); the forms of works in the Humanities are always different.

The Humanities are works that are created by the conscious, analytical human mind and they are, therefore, intrinsically interesting as ends unto themselves. They are not useful in a pragmatic sense.

"...liberal studies, or, as Cicero had called them, the "Studia Humanitates": those studies considered essential to a free man in Greek and Roman times. These were grammar, rhetoric (the art of speech making), history, poetry, and moral philosophy.

What are the disciplines that make up the humanities? For centuries, the fields of knowledge most often viewed as humanistic have been language/literature (broadens personal moral vision through exploring character, circumstance and choice), history (provides clues for understanding the present), and philosophy (supplies rules of analysis and criteria for belief).

In 1963, the Commission on the Humanities added to those traditional disciplines the following: the arts, the history and comparison of religion and law, and those aspects of the social sciences which have humanistic content and employ humanistic methods. Congressional legislation in 1965 authorizing the National Endowment for the Humanities included the following disciplines among the traditional disciplines in the Humanities: linguistics, archaeology, ethics.

Are the Humanities a portrait of our culture and heritage? Yes, for better or worse, and that culture and that heritage include what is generally thought of as the Western tradition as well as Native and Latin American, African and Asian cultures. We have a common culture, but there is diversity in that culture. "NO SOCIETY CAN FLOURISH IF ITS CITIZENS DENY THE POSSIBILITY OF A COMMON CULTURE THAT UNITES ALL DESPITE DIFFERENCES IN ORIGIN, EDUCATION AND OUTLOOK." (Report of the Commission on the Humanities, 1980).

What are two of our fundamental beliefs with regard to our cultural tradition?

1. that there are such things as "classics," which are cultural resources that must be preserved.
2. that there are standards within standards.

Do we develop, in an ancillary manner, any special mental capacities and skills in studying the Humanities that are/can be useful to us, as educated individuals, throughout our lives? ? Yes, we develop the mental capacities and skills for:

1. the effective command of written and spoken language:
From reading works of literature, history and philosophy, or the symbolic texts of music and the visual arts, humanists proceed to elaborate their insights into language. To read and listen for comprehension, to have a feeling for the complexity of discourse, to speak and write clearly and persuasively--these are useful in every area of learning, working and living.

2. enjoyment of an informed judgment of the arts; works of art give public expression to private experience. Liberal education should teach us how to appreciate aesthetically works of art.

3. understanding (preferably based on knowledge of foreign languages) of other cultures. Knowledge of a foreign language improves comprehension of one's own language and of foreign culture. Knowledge of geography and the history of other societies illuminates one's own culture and the complexity of culture in general.

4. analysis and assessment of ethical problems, issues of public policy, and the questions of value underlying science and technology. Science and technology raise moral and civic questions: genetic engineering, the chemical control of human behavior and reproduction; euthanasia; the distribution of space, fuel and other diminishing natural resources; the electronic invasion of privacy, etc. The Humanities offer historical perspective and critical methods necessary for discussing the problems presented by other disciplines.

With those four mental capacities and skills we will have the verbal, perceptual and imaginative baggage needed to understand experience and to speak, read, and write as men of women of culture.

If the Humanities are not "useful" in a pragmatic sense, why do we study them? We study the Humanities because the study of the Humanities leads beyond "functional" literacy and basic skills to the development of intellectual vision. In studying the Humanities we seek not geometric proof and quantitative measure. Rather, we seek insight, perspective, critical judgement, understanding, discrimination, creativity.

Walter -

Please re-imburse me for the expenses I incurred in producing the April 1, 1992 FTA Bulletin. The total amount due me is $161.55 (see my letter to you of 4-8-92).

also, I'm getting ready to do another Bulletin and would like to include a membership list for 1992. Can you tell me who has paid dues for 1992?

Sincerely,
Robert

5/26/92 698

Dear Tim -

I received the photo pages and the article ("Whirlwind Tour of Wales") that you sent in late April. They will be included in the next Bulletin. Possibly you can send me a "President's Letter" in the next couple of weeks for the upcoming Bulletin.

I'm having difficulty getting reimbursed by Walter for printing and mailing expenses for the FTA. To date, I have written him three times and asked him to reimburse me for expenses incurred in producing & mailing the last FTA Bulletin (4-1-92) — and I have still not been re-imbursed. Just for the record, a copy of my first request for re-imbursement is enclosed.

Possibly there are extenuating circumstances that prevent Walter from writing me a re-imbursement check. I'm trying to be very patient but with each passing day I am becoming more irritated. As it stands, I am very reluctant to do anything more for the FTA.

Sincerely,
Robert

Clock tower at City Hall scrutinized

By Bob Tomaine

UPVALLEY BUREAU CHIEF

A committee will be established to repair the tower clock on Carbondale City Hall, and the project may be expanded to include work on the tower itself.

"I'm going to be working on establishing a committee and trying to get the money raised," said Mayor John Moran, "to repair not only the clock, but also the faces and maybe even the tower itself. If it isn't done soon, it's only going to get worse."

City Manager Paul Browne said that, while the clock's motor is in good condition, the gearing which transfers the motion to each of its faces needs to be replaced.

"Replacement of the glass and the hands would also be a part of it," he said. "The west face is broken, and we've got indications of additional difficulties with the other ones, cracks and separations."

He said there is no danger of any of the faces falling. The clock, he said, is operating, with the problem confined to the gearing.

Moran said he plans to contact civic and community organizations for financial assistance.

"I'm hoping we can get the project completed within the next three months," he said. "We'll have to see how much money we can raise, because for the clock and the faces, you're talking $15,000, but for the tower, you're probably talking about $60,000."

Depending upon the amount which is raised, he said, the city may also seek state funding for additional work on the structure. Monies for the building's rehabilitation had been sought in the state's 1991-92 capital budget, but were casualties of the fiscal difficulties which surrounded the budget process.

A 1989 survey of the structure by Groenendaal & Jones, Petersburg, estimated the cost of rehabilitation at $1.8 million, but contrasted that with an estimated cost to replace it of $2.2 to $2.9 million. The survey concluded that City Hall's rehabilitation is both feasible and appropriate.

Plans are currently being reviewed for construction of a ramp to provide handicapped accessibility to the first floor of the building.

"Hopefully," said Moran, "this'll be a start on refurbishing the whole City Hall. It's something I've wanted to do and, seeing as how the clock is broke right now, this is the time to start."

The clock had been inoperative for a number of years until the early 1980s, when the Committee to Restore Carbondale City Hall launched a drive to raise monies for its repair. The committee later evolved into the Carbondale Historical Society & Museum Inc.

DEAR MEMBER:

It's time to renew your group insurance coverage. Listed below is your current premium rate, and the renewal rate.

Along with other insurers in the industry, CONTINENTAL AMERICAN, your group insurer, has determined that a rate adjustment is necessary to keep up with medical care inflation and to provide a high level of health care for your group.

There are many advantages of renewal at this time:

- o The deductible that you have accumulated will be preserved.
- o Another insurance company's plan may not cover preexisting conditions or particular medical problems.
- o If you allow your plan to terminate, there may be a gap in coverage for you.
- o The hassle of re-underwriting with another group insurer will be eliminated, along with the uncertainty of whether or not you will be accepted by another group insurer.

You may want to discuss your plans with your agent,
MR. ROBERT JABLONOWSKI AT (717)282-3040.

By maintaining insurance coverage through Plan Services, you can be certain that you will continue to receive superior administration and customer service on your group insurance plan. You will receive greater value for your premium dollar, with our top-rated insurance company and competitive prices.

5/30/92 - Last night, SRP spearheaded a "let's go and harvest some Rhubarb" expedition to the patch below the barn. DWP II carried the big brown bag, which we three filled in about 20 minutes. DAP II & I washed and cut up the harvest upon our return to the house, and then I made a batch of Rhubarb-Strawberry-orange Conserve, which is delicious. The recipe I used is from the 1987 edition of the Ball Blue Book, p. 51. Surely I will make more, much more, of this wonderful Conserve. DWP II and I have just now (11:05 AM) had Coffee and Rhubarb

Consume on oat bran Crisp Bread — at my desk in my bedroom — as Nikolaus Harmoncourt and the Concertum Musicum Wien have played
J. S. Bach's Overture 1+2. "ain't we civilized?" DWP II is now drawing a map.

The garden is growing beautifully.
Planted about a dozen asters a couple days ago (Cecil Rose and I both love asters — in addition to chickens, of course); also some Dusty Miller, Red Salvia, yellow Marigolds and Zinnias. Those "annuals" are some of my favorites and will be very beautiful among the perennials.

also made another go at Hollyhocks — planted about a dozen very beautiful pink & yellow "powderpuff" hollyhocks in the garden. For some peculiar reason, I have a very difficult time wintering over Hollyhocks. They are an extremely hardy perennial but they do not winter-over here, for some reason. Also planted some more Tomatoes and Basil and Parsley to be certain that I have vast quantities of Tomatoes for making juice later on in the summer.

On Tuesday I took 12 birds to Nicholson's Livestock auction and they sold well: from $2 to $5 each — the total they were sold for in $38.00; minus $9.50 com - mission = $28.50. Not bad at all for 12 culled show birds - mostly young stock. I am a very good culler of young birds, I think.

It is important to separate the sheep from the goats before they become adults, as it is less of an "ordeal" if they are young stock. The coop feels much more open now - partly because I have culled twelve birds but also because more and more of the young stock are out and about with the old birds. On Thursday (5/28), DWP II and I went up to Susquehanna County - doing errands and visiting.

First stop was in Kingsley, where we saw Ann and Mrs. Tiffany.
Spent a very pleasant hour or so there — lots of Chicken talk; then to Montrose, where I picked up my photographs at Craiger Studio and then DWP II and I went into the Pet Store down the street and selected two Gold Fish for DWP II: one "gold" one and one "natural" color.
DWP named them "Goldie" and "Silverie" immediately. He very proudly carried the plastic bag full of water and two pet fish. We stopped and visited with Cecil and Mary Rose on our way home. Cecil and Mary had been "arguing", I think, as we arrived — about Cecil's not eating much at all. Mary was very cross with / at Cecil and it ruined the visit. She was like an angry wet hen throughout the visit. If I did not know that she is a grand person, I would be inclined never to go back there again. She was almost rude to Dwp & me she was so cross at Cecil. He, of course, was oblivious to Mary's crossness, and he and I had a grand poultry talk. Mary, I think, is feeling guilty about having gotten rid of all of Cecil's chickens - bantam and standard.

Doubtless, all will be sweetener and light the next turned an there.

Classes at Penn State began on Wednesday (for me) and I am very pleased to have about 15 students. The class will meet three times a week and not twice, as erroneously stated in the catalogue. Possibly Monday - Wednesday and Thursday - from 10:45 AM to 12:25 P.M. The first class went very well indeed and I look forward to the experience with great enthusiasm.

My "letter to the editor" was published in the May 20, 1992 issue of The Chronicle of Higher Education (p. B5), a copy of which is given in these pages.

The June 1992 Poetry Press is in the mail at present — hopefully it contains two of my articles: their publication is long over-due and I am most anxious for them to be in print. I have a couple more articles all set to go and will send them to Bill Wueff as soon as those that he now has from me appear in print.

Also, the 1992 APA Yearbook should be "out" very shortly and that will have an article & much more by SRP.

Al Robinson was a grand man. Some of my fondest childhood memories are of visits to his poultry

was from him that we got

Dear Mr. Powell;

Thanks ever so much for keeping us updated on how the chicks are doing. We have been meaning to write since you first let us know how the shipment came in. Please accept our offer of 5 free chicks of your choice on your next order to help replace the ones that were lost in shipment.

We hope all is still going well with the chicks. We have elected to reduce the number of standard varieties we have on the farm. It's been difficult selling some of the breeding stock - we hate to see them go but this way we should be able to concentrate more on the remainder and continue to invest in good quality.

Keep in touch - in a world where complaining sometimes seems to be the norm your letters are refreshing.

Thanks again,

Vicki

AMERICAN

GAME BANTAMS

By S. Robert Powell

American Game Bantams were created in the state of New Jersey in the 1930's by crossing Pit Games and Red Jungle Fowl. The official weights in ounces of American Games, as given in the ABA's BANTAM STANDARD, are 30-27-27-24 (cock, hen, cockerel, pullet), which means that American Games are heavier, for example, than Antwerp Belgians, Uccle Belgians, Booted Bantams, Japanese Bantams, Leghorns Bantams, Rosecomb and Old English Games. The tails of both male and female American Games are to be held at 50 degrees above the horizontal (the tails of Old English Games are to be held at 45 degrees). The back of the male should slope at an angle of 30 degrees below the horizontal, with an abrupt break between the back and the tail. The back of the female should slope at an angle of 20 degrees below the horizontal.

"When in hand", we learn from the 1988 edition of ABA's Bantam Standard (p. 27), "American Game Bantams should have strong contraction of wings and thighs. Feathers should be tight over the entire body, producing an overall hardness of feathers, which is characteristic of the breed".

There are currently 12 colors of American Game Bantams recognized by the ABA: Birchen, Black, Black Breasted Red, Blue, Blue Red, Brassy Back, Brown Red, Golden Duckwing, Red Pyle, Silver Duckwing, Wheaten and White.

American Game Bantams, many fanciers and show secretaries will be surprised to learn, are specifically named by the ABA in the second of the

the fact that he proposes two different leg colors ("light and dark") and the APA requires that leg color be either one or the other.

The colors of the shanks and toes of American Game Bantams are very clearly set forth by the ABA. Seven of the 12 recognized varieties of American Game Bantams have bluish-slate shanks and toes: Black Breasted Red, Blue, Blue Red, Brassy Back, Golden Duckwing, Silver Duckwing and Wheaten. Three varieties have black shanks and toes: Birchen, Black and Brown Red. And Red Pyle American Game Bantams have shanks and toes that are pinkish-slate.

In LaMar's article, he reports that the Standard American Games were "formerly known as pit games or fighting games." That may well be the case. Bantam American Games, however, as far as I have been able to determine, are not Bantam varieties of what were formerly known as Pit Games or Fighting Games. Rather, they (American Game Bantams) were created, as we learn from the ABA's Bantam Standard, by crossing Pit Games and Red Jungle Fowl.

I have been raising Black

Breasted Red American Game Bantams since 1989. My birds are primarily from the bloodline of Duane Post of St. Henry, Ohio. The males in this bloodline, in my experience, are excellent in type and color. The females, although excellent in type, do not have as fine a stippling as I would like. And so, this year, in an effort to improve the stippling in the Black Breasted Red Females, I will mate some of the excellent Post Males to females with excellent stippling from a breeder in Central New York.

I show at least one of my American Games every time that I enter birds in a poultry show. Unlike Old English Game Bantam Cockerels, which can be shown undubbed until November 1st of the year in which they are hatched, all American Game Cockerels must be dubbed in order to be shown in competition, even if they are shown before November 1st.

Rarely is there any competition in American Game Bantams. At the 1991 Ohio National Poultry Exposition in Columbus, Ohio for example, one of my Black Breasted Red Hens was the only American Game Bantam in the show.

Two other breeders that I know of raise and show American Game Bantams: (1) Todd McWilliams of Brogue, PA, who regularly shows his Black Breasted Red Birds at the Berks County Poultry Fanciers' Show in Reading and at the York County Poultry Fanciers' Show in York, and (2) Palan Miller of Ancram, New York who showed his Black Breasted Red birds at the Eastern New York Poultry Fanciers' Show in Cobleskill, New York on September 29, 1991.

Why, given the fact that there is rarely much competition at the shows, do I raise and show Black Breasted Red American Games? That's easy. I do so because they are beautiful birds with what I regard as an attractive temperament. The male bird, as described by the ABA, is majestic, graceful and alert. The female is alert, graceful and sedate. American Game Bantams, in my experience, have exceptional feather quality. The males have abundant hackles that flow well over the shoulders and back and well-feathered saddles. The plumage of both the males and females is hard, resilient, smooth and brilliant. The breed is one of exceptional vigor. Hatchability is always very high (90% or more of the eggs hatch as a rule) and the hens make excellent setters, which is a definite plus in my book.

Most exhibitors and spectators at poultry shows (and occasionally a judge) have never seen an American Game Bantam (a good photograph is given on p. 27 of the ABA's Bantam Standard) and are not familiar with the ABA's Standard for the breed. Occasionally I am told by a fellow exhibitor at a show: "Your BB Red Old English Games are beautiful, but they are too big." I then explain that they are not Old English Games and so on. On more than one occasion that I know of, when there was no competition in the American Games, judges have failed to handle the American Games (a violation of both the ABA and the APA's judging instructions, I might add) and have simply marked the coop tags. Discretion being the better part of valor, I have watched this happen and have said nothing.

one show, my Black Breasted Red American Games were disqualified by an APA judge because they have blue legs. On that occasion I should have opened my mouth and filed a protest, but chose not to do so.

Will American Game Bantams ever be as popular as Old English Game Bantams, Cochins Bantams or Wyandotte Bantams? Very probably not. But, I am pleased to report, more and more exhibitors and spectators at poultry shows are taking notice of the American Game Bantams. At four recent shows my BB Red American Game Bantams attracted more than a little attention. The Sussex County (NJ) Poultry Fanciers' Show on April 27-28, 1991, the Central Pennsylvania Avian Club's Show on May 5, 1991, the Finger Lakes Feather Club's Show on June 2, 1991 and the Rochester Poultry Fanciers' Show on October 6, 1991.

The fact that American Games are beginning to attract attention is a good sign. One of these days, an American Game Bantam is going to be named champion of the Old English and American Game Class. It may not happen this year or next, but it will happen and that my friends will be a wonderful day in the history of exhibition poultry. S. Robert Powell, RD #1, Box 40, Carbon-dale, Pennsylvania 18407-9706.

Regarding your squib about bedding for cattle at the University of Illinois: Cows don't sit. To a city slicker it may sometimes look that way because cattle occasionally pause briefly on their haunches when they go from a lying to a standing position.

TO THE EDITOR:

I was interested to learn that old telephone books are being used as bedding for cattle at the University of Illinois ("Directory assistance for Illinois cows," December 11).

In the last paragraph of the article we learn that "the paper is scattered over the barn floor and changed once a week, after the cows have ground it into pulp by standing and sitting on it."

Ferdinand, the bull in the children's story "The Story of Ferdinand," does, as I recall, sit among the flowers, but real-life cows

TO THE EDITOR:

Having grown up on the farm, I enjoyed a moment of mirth reading your December 11 article. Cattle "sitting" about is a truly comic image evocative of "The Far Side" cartoon.

Dear Mr. Powell:

Thank you for the copy of the Briswold Reunion News Letter.

I too have an old post card showing a picture of No. Main St., Barbordale mailed Sept. 28, 1912 by my mother (Louise) to her mother (Mrs. John Briswold). The card has a one cent stamp on it.

Due to my age you will appreciate the fact that I knew personally many of the older people mentioned in the letter. Among them are the Curtis sisters, Augusta, Amanda, Laura (Mrs. Hill Bull) and Harriet (Mrs. Miles Barber).

The letter brings to mind many fond memories of that period.

You and Donald are to be commended for your efforts in

Dear Colleague:

We have completed the screening and interviewing process for the French position for which you applied at the University of Minnesota, Morris, and are in the process of making an appointment. I am sorry that we were unable to interview you, but I trust that you understand that we had a very large number of well-qualified candidates.

We are planning to hire a full-time, temporary faculty member in French for the 1992-93 academic year. There is the possibility of renewal for a second and third year but not beyond. We expect the appointment to be at the assistant professor level and therefore the Ph.D. is to be in hand at the time of application. Should you be interested in our considering you as a candidate for this position, please let us know by July 15, 1992. You should address your letter to the Division of the Humanities, University of Minnesota, Morris, Morris, MN 56267.

Thank you for your interest in the University of Minnesota, Morris.

Sincerely yours,

Board of Directors
Carbondale Public Library
Carbondale, PA 18407

Dear Board Member:

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors will be held on Tuesday, June 16, at 7:30 p.m. at the library.

By now, you (and the entire state of Pennsylvania) have heard about the "awarding of the grants" to the Carbondale, Ephrata, and Huntington Valley libraries. What was missing from the news on TV and the articles in the paper was the enormous challenge this has presented to our library. Are we going to be able to sign the contract when the time comes or must we tell Harrisburg that we cannot raise the balance of the money to complete our project.

At Tuesday's meeting we must take definite action to get on paper dates, names, everything we need to make our Capital Fund Drive a success. This cannot be done without the total commitment of the entire Board of Directors.

This meeting and all subsequent meetings during the next two months are going to be extremely important. If ever we needed your help, now is the time. It's going to be now or never for the Carbondale Public Library. We've got to put on a positive showing for the community and become the leaders in this major project.

Sincerely,

Martin Langan

Dear Bill:

Congratulations on another successful FLFC show! Everything went beautifully. I didn't hear a single negative comment from anyone. Special thanks to you and to John Rebhahn and to the hard working "core group" in the FLFC who put in all those long hours of work to make the show a reality.

Enclosed is an ad to accompany the write-up that will be published in POULTRY PRESS.

LEADER: Dear God, If children live with criticism, they learn to condemn.
ALL: Help us to affirm before we criticize.
LEADER: If children live with hostility, they learn to fight.
ALL: Help us to honor peace rather than violence.
LEADER: If children live with ridicule, they learn to be shy.
ALL: Help us to laugh with, rather than at others.
LEADER: If children live with tolerance, they learn to be patient.
ALL: Help us to receive differences in others with understanding.
LEADER: If children live with praise, they learn to appreciate.
ALL: Help us to see children as worthy of your love and our esteem.
LEADER: If children live with fairness, they learn justice.
ALL: Help us to demonstrate equality, that justice may roll down as waters.
LEADER: If children live with security, they learn to have faith.
ALL: Help us to provide a trustworthy environment in church and in the community.
LEADER: Forgive us for any part that we have in allowing homelessness, abuse, unresponsive schools, racism and injustice to continue.
ALL: Give us insight and courage, O God, because Jesus set a child in the midst of the disciples to show the way of the Kingdom of God. AMEN.

Dear Bill, [wneft]

6/13/92 765

Thanks for running the article on American Game Bantams in the June 1992 Poultry Press. It always give me a great deal of pleasure to see in print something that I have written.

Enclosed are copies of two ads that I have given to show secretaries for club ads to be published in Poultry Press:

one for the Buffalo & Western New York Show, 5/17/92; and one for the Finger Lakes Feather Club Show on 6/7/92. In both cases I would like the ads to be 2" x 1" and not 1" x 2", as I mistakenly indicated on my copy to the show secretaries.

I hope it will be possible to make this change.

Thanks again for publishing
the American Game Sauton article.

I will now have the pleasure of reading the June '92 Poetry Press.

Sincerely,

Robert

Dear Robert:

I traversed the countryside last Monday evening to ensure capture of the Syracuse evening and morning papers. Neither contained pictures or even mention of the Poultry Show. Called Pat and Bill Ehlers and learned that the man in question is Dan Brothers. He has come to the poultry show for years and takes lots of pictures. He is not a photographer for any paper, just a hobbyist who sells pictures privately. After this information, the trail went cold. The Syracuse directory lists a Daniel Brothers in Newark, NY (not far from Syracuse) at (315) 589-8973. Perhaps he's the one if you want to try and track down your nephew's photo.

That's the best I could do. Congratulations on your wins! Those Campines are beautiful!

Dear Mrs. Michie,

Thanks for your letter of 4/25/92.
Your abbreviation of "Northeastern Pennsylvania Griswold Reunion" is fine. Thank you for asking.

Donald and I have not been able to trace our Powell line back very far. We can only go back to our father's paternal grandfather, John Powell, who died in Northeastern Pennsylvania (Taylor, PA?) in the late 19th century. He probably came here directly from Wales to work in the anthracite miner in this area. My guess is that our Powell line does not go back through Powell families in Massachusetts or Connecticut—although I could easily be wrong.

again it is time "to make the big push" and make our local Griswold Reunion a reality. It's a lot of work, of course, but then it is, after all, a labor of love.

We look forward to receiving our Lady Tafel print out.

Robert Powell

Dear Cousins Ronald & Gary,
It was wonderful to get your letter of 5/26/92, and to learn that you plan to attend the Griewood Reunion this year. Yes, the Reunion will take place on Saturday, August 15th, beginning at noon, at the Moosic Grange Hall in Clinton Township, Wayne County.

Don't trouble yourself in attempting to provide anything for the Covered-dish dinner. There is always more than enough food to go around, and no one ever goes away hungry.

Thanks for the information on the members of the Budoc, Lawson & Weick families that you included in your letter.

We are looking forward to meeting you in August.

Sincerely yours.

Dear Board Member:

We are having a special work session devoted to the CAPITAL FUND DRIVE on Tuesday, June 23, at 7:30 p.m. at the library.

To recap the meeting of last Tuesday, we emphasized the importance of the Board of Directors leading the way to begin the drive with a well-considered commitment to this drive. Also, we requested each member to put together their own personal list of at least ten prospects...people they will feel comfortable asking to donate to the NEW LIBRARY FUND $1,000 or more. You can imagine how successful our drive can be with a start like this.

We are working to put together a team of leaders to head the various divisions. Can you help us with your suggestions. You may have a name that eluded us at the meeting. We need your ideas now.

TIME GROWS SHORT!

Sincerely,

Meeting of the Board of Directors
Carbondale Public Library
May 19, 1992

The May 19, 1992 meeting of the Board of Directors of the Carbondale Public Library was called to order at 6:50 P.M. by Board president, Martin Langan. The meeting was an abbreviated one inasmuch as it was followed immediately by a public meeting, on the ground floor of the Library, at which the Library's plans for the new library building were presented to the public.

Present at the meeting were: Hank Loftus, Martin Langan, Joseph Pascoe, Loretta Wilczynski, Aubrey Staple, Bob Vandenberg, Ann Muldoon (Library Director), Sally Felix (Lackawanna County Library System Administrator), and S. Robert Powell.

It was moved (Vandenberg) and seconded (Staple) that the minutes of the last meeting (04-21-1992) as well as the Treasurer's Report not be read. The motion carried.

Letters from the First National Bank of Lake Ariel and the Community Bank and Trust Company were read and discussed by the Board. Those two banks are the only two area banks that quoted the Library an interest rate to borrow $125,000 for 15 years to purchase the land upon which the new Library building will be constructed on River Street. Such a loan will be taken out in the name of the CPL and the County will re-imburse the CPL the amount paid on a monthly basis.

Sally Felix spoke on the topic: Is the Library tax exempt?

Hank Loftus reported that he had learned, through Sally Felix, that a seminar on fund raising for libraries, sponsored by the Pennsylvania Library Association, would take place on June 9th in New Cumberland. Martin Langan, Hank Loftus, Anne Muldoon and Sally Felix will attend the seminar.

Library Director: no report

Committee reports:

Property Committee: Bob Vandenberg reported that the water-damaged wall of the Library will be painted next week.

Nominating Committee: Joseph Pascoe reported that there are currently three openings on the Board. Cathy Clause from Jermyrn has resigned. It was regularly moved (Loftus) and seconded (Wilczynski) that Jim Burke be appointed to the Board of Directors. The motion carried. Hank Loftus said that Attorney Pat Casey, who lives in Jermyrn, might be interested in serving on the Board of Directors.

A request from the Bonacci family (owners of the proposed site of the new library on River Street) that the Library advance funds to the Bonacci family for the River Street site was turned down by the Board.

Sally Felix reported that Synergist has been hired to do a Phase I environmental study of the River Street site. If no environmental problems are discovered in Phase I, the environmental study will stop at that point.

Hank Loftus reported that the National Park Service will sponsor a rail excursion to Carbondale on September 19, 1992, and suggested that the Library might get involved in the day-long event during which 650+ rail fans will be in Carbondale. The Library could possibly make available for purchase items such as note cards with a drawing of the new library building on them, &c.

The Library Director reported that the Library will be closed on Saturdays in July and August.

Marty Langan presented an outline of how the public meeting, immediately following the Board meeting, would be organized.

At 7:30 P.M., it was moved (Loftus) and seconded (Staple) that the meeting be adjourned. The motion carried.

Respectfully submitted,

S. Robert Powell
Recording Secretary

Dear Audrey,

Thanks for all your sleuthing about in search of a non-existent newspaper article. We appreciate it very much. →

Had my birds blood tested for pullorum-typhoid & avian influenza last Sunday. Clean bill of health received from the State today. It's always a relief to get the official "OK" for the year.

Journal keeping in recent weeks has not been easy to do: life has been too complicated and frenzied, which does not mean that journals can not be kept when life is complicated and frenzied, but in the past couple of weeks I have not been able to do so. Eh bien, commençons.

Peonies and poppies and irises — all absolutely gorgeous. There are about 10 colors of irises in the garden out front; most of the irises have not blossomed, so who knows what wonders are there. I believe that there should be about 30-40 different colors of irises. Several favorites: an intense velvety purple; a butter yellow and a yellow &

purple one with spots that look very much like an orchid. De plus, there is a very exotic brownish red & yellow one, a blue/white marble. Donald's peonies and poppies out by the stone wall are a sight to behold: 8 different colors of oriental poppies and three of peonies (white, pink, red). It is hard to imagine anything more heavenly than peonies; maybe Lilacs; maybe Lilies of the Valley. Flowers that have a fragrance are very special for me. The purple cabbage Rose (La reine Victoria) that I planted this Spring is growing nicely and has several bud stalks on it. One of the Climbing. Bloze rose bushes that I transplanted here from Eldad is growing very nicely; the other did not winter-over.

The vegetable garden is growing à merveille. I have truned up the tomato bushes and just last night put up ropes for the pole beans to grow on. If all goes well, it should be extraordinarily dramatic up in the vegetable garden in a few weeks. Tomatoes now in blossom; Cucumbers and Squash (Hubbard & Buttercup) growing nicely; also sunflowers, parsley and basil

I am doing well in culling the young birds in the poultry house. There are more to cull, to be sure. The young Rhode Island Reds and Game Rocks and Partridge Rocks are looking very good. I have great hopes for the Reds during the Fall show season; the two standard B.B. Red Modern Game pullets are very beautiful at present and will soon moult into their final plumage before laying. I can hardly wait to show them this Fall. My breeders were blood-tested last Sunday; I will vaccinate them against Corynebacterium very soon - and 185 5.

they will be all set for the Fall and winter show season.

Two nice "ponetry publishing"
events in recent weeks:

- 1) SRP is listed on page 6 of the 1992 Harford Fair Premium list as one of the three Ponetry superintendents; on page 63, SRP's photo is given, along with that of Aussie Tiffany and Robert Simons. SRP is listed as "Co-Superintendent" Enferi, I am recognized as important to the ponetry department at the Harford Fair! It has been a long and slow process of penetrating the inner circle.

2) my article ("American Game Bantams") has finally been published in Poultry Press; in the June 1992 issue (pp. 10-11); also on those pages are photos from the Sussex Show.

As soon as my article on Uncle Belgium & Crele etc. has made an appearance in the pages of Poultry Press, I will send Bill Wulff a couple more articles.

Received my "clean bill of health" for the chicken today: the results came back today: "pullorum - typhoid" and "avian influenza" not present in my flock. I was, of course, sure that that was the case, but it is always a relief to get the official notification from the state following the tests. This health paper will have to be presented every time I show my birds for the next year.

The plan was to fly my tipplers this day (the "Long Day" fly) but the weather has been very bad: fogged in much of the morning, and then rain and very overcast. Maybe I will be able to get the young bud kit into the air tomorrow morning. They are just "getting going" and are not yet flying to the maximum, but they are flying beautifully.

Another work session for the CAPITAL FUND DRIVE will be held on Tuesday, June 30, at 7:00 p.m. Please note the time. Since we expect to have STEERING COMMITTEE members present at this meeting, we will have much to do and will need the extra time.

Although we are making progress, we have many parts of this project to get under control; for example...publicity, Fund Drive letters, pledge cards, presentation folders, all must be put together in the next two weeks.

Please bring all your ideas, suggestions, anything that will move us toward our goal.

Humanities 001, Section 2, Summer 1992, Dr. S. Robert Powell
 Penn State University, Worthington Scranton Campus
 EXAM I, June 29, 1992

A. ESSAY QUESTIONS: Answer questions 1, 2 and 9 and any three of the other essay questions in Part A (these six questions count as 75% of the exam).

1. Define the Aristotelian concept of the Mean as set forth in NICOMACHEAN ETHICS. Include in your definition a discussion of "deficiency and excess," "pleasure and pain." What are three practical rules for good conduct set forth by Aristotle that will help one arrive at the Mean?
2. Describe the process, as outlined by Socrates in THE SYMPOSIUM, by means of which one is led to contemplate absolute beauty.
3. How, according to Ecclesiastes, is one to live one's life? Compare this point of view with that set forth by Aristotle in ETHICS.
4. How does Aristotle characterize and define "contemplation?"
5. Explain why Aristotle characterizes ETHICS as a work of practical (not theoretical) science. What constitutes a virtuous act according to Aristotle?
6. Describe the fictional form and technique used by Plato in THE SYMPOSIUM.
7. Outline the point of view of one of the principal speakers in THE SYMPOSIUM. Compare Plato and relate that point of view to the thesis of THE SYMPOSIUM as a whole.
8. It has been said that the speech that Plato assigns to Aristophanes in THE SYMPOSIUM "constitutes almost the most brilliant of all his achievements as a literary artist." What are some of the qualities of that speech that cause it to be so highly regarded?
9. The legend of Aeneas' journey from Troy to Latium and of his settlement there, marriage with the Latin princess Lavinia, and warfare with the neighboring inhabitants are described in several texts of the Augustan age (ROMAN ANTIQUITIES of Dionysius of Halicarnassus; an account in Livy; the Servian commentary on THE AENEID; an account in Strabo's GEOGRAPHY; among others). And yet one rarely reads those texts. One reads Virgil's AENEID. Why is that the case? Include in your answer a discussion of at least one of the following: the fictional technique used by Virgil in writing THE AENEID or the language of THE AENEID.
10. Characterize and describe the narrative technique used by the various narrators in THE AENEID. Name at least five of the narrators in the book. In addition, comment on the narrative function that is played by inanimate/physical objects in THE AENEID. Identify at least three such inanimate narrators (recording structures) and give a brief summary of the narrative material presented on them.
11. One of the reasons why THE AENEID has a significant impact on the reader is the result of the high degree of psychological verisimilitude in the text. How does Virgil establish that verisimilitude? Give specific examples.

12. THE AENEID strongly and frequently confirms two important rules of conduct: one principally Greek (avoid excess; beware of ungovernable or destructive passions, such as rage, desire, blood lust) and the other principally Roman (be true, that is, loyal to the gods, to the homeland, to the family, to friends, to dependents). Using examples from the text, illustrate "Greek" and "Roman" conduct in THE AENEID.

13. To what extent are the characters in THE AENEID free agents? What role does Fate play in the text? Include in your answer comments on the role played by Jupiter; also the lesser gods (Juno, Venus, Mercury, Vulcan, Neptune, Mars, for example).

B. SHORT ANSWER QUESTIONS, in two Parts (25% of the exam grade)

PART I: Answer the following 25 questions:

1-12. When, where, and in what languages were originally written the four books that we have studied thus far:

ECCLESIASTES:

THE SYMPOSIUM:

NICOMACHEAN ETHICS:

THE AENEID:

13. When did the Trojan War take place? What caused the war?

14. What was Virgil's given name? Give the names of his three books.

15. Where were the ancient cities of Troy and Carthage located?

16-20. Give the original and present meaning of the following words: harpy, symposium, peripatetic. What is a panegyric? What is a hermaphrodite?

21-22. What, according to Aristotle, are the two faculties that make up the intellect?

23-24. Eryximachus, in THE SYMPOSIUM, remarks that Heavenly Love is associated with the Heavenly Muse and that Vulgar or Common Love is associated with another Muse. Who are those two Muses?

25. Rank, from 1 to 4, the four books that we have read thus far in this course. Rank the best of the four books, in your opinion, as "1"; rank your least favorite as "4":

ECCLESIASTES-----

THE SYMPOSIUM-----

NICOMACHEAN ETHICS-----

*****

Part II: Answer any six of the following 11 questions.

1. Characterize the fictional form of ECCLESIASTES.
2. What can be said of the style of ECCLESIASTES?
3. To whom does Alcibiades, in THE SYMPOSIUM, compare to Marsyas the Satyr and to Silenus? What do we know about Marsyas and Silenus?
4. Name the six primary speakers at Agathon's drinking-party? What roles do Alcibiades, Apollodorus and Aristodemus play in THE SYMPOSIUM? Who is Diotima?
5. Those persons who subscribe to the ethical relativism school of thought believe that right and wrong are relative to three factors. What are those three factors? What do those persons believe who subscribe to the school of thought that is known as theological absolutism?
6. Name at least six of the moral virtues and six of the intellectual virtues that Aristotle discusses at length in NICOMACHEAN ETHICS. Which of the moral virtue does Aristotle identify as "the sovereign virtue"? Why does he characterize it in that manner?
7. Describe briefly how the lives of Aristotle and Alexander the Great were related?
8. The Lyceum, a gymnasium sacred to Apollo Lyceus, was assigned to Aristotle in Athens. What do we know about that school (courses taught) and the teaching methods used therein? Who was one of Aristotle's most important teachers?
9. The first paragraph of THE AENEID is a summary/plot outline of the entire story (in many respects a remoulding of Homeric materials) that Virgil is about to relate. Why does Virgil tell us how the story will end, so to speak, in the first paragraph of the book? To what extent is the structure of THE AENEID dramatic?
10. Characterize and describe the similes used by Virgil in THE AENEID.
11. THE AENEID is an epic poem, consisting of 12 books of verse in hexameters. What are some of the qualities of an epic poem? What is a hero? Who are the heroes of THE AENEID?

Humanities 001: Section 2, Summer 1992, Dr. S. Robert Powell

POSSIBLE TERM PAPER TOPICS

1. THE AENEID strongly and frequently confirms two important rules of conduct: one principally Greek (Avoid excess; beware of ungovernable or destructive passions, such as rage, desire, blood lust) and the other principally Roman (Be true, that is, loyal to the gods, to the homeland, to the family, to friends and to descendants). Illustrate "Greek" and "Roman" conduct in THE AENEID.
2. The concept of "freedom" in THE AENEID. The role of Fate, the roles played by the various gods and goddesses; the actions of Dido and Turnus, the actions of Aeneas.
3. The narrators in THE AENEID: animate, inanimate; the narrative/fictional technique used by Virgil.
4. The language of THE AENEID.
5. The narrators in THE SYMPOSIUM; the narrative/fictional technique used by Plato.
6. One of the reasons why THE AENEID has a significant impact on the reader is the result of the high degree of psychological verisimilitude in the text. Demonstrate how Virgil establishes that verisimilitude.
7. Compare and contrast Virgil's "underworld" (THE AENEID) to Dante's "inferno" (THE INFERNO).
8. Analyze the roles played by the secondary characters (Dido, Turnus, among many others) in Virgil's AENEID.
9. It has been said that the speech that Plato assigns to Aristophanes in THE SYMPOSIUM "constitutes almost the most brilliant of all his achievements as a literary artist." Analyze in detail that speech. Possibly compare it to one of the plays of Aristophanes.
10. In the speech of Pausanias in THE SYMPOSIUM, the concept of love in various Greek city states (Elis, Boeotia, Sparta, Athens, etc.) is presented. Investigate the topic of love in Ancient Greece.
11. The role of women in THE AENEID.
12. THE INFERNO as an experience of the senses.
13. Language/style/point of view in ECCLESIASTES and two or three other books of "The Writings" (PSALMS, PROVERBS, SONG OF SOLOMON, etc.) in the Old Testament.
14. In 343 B.C., Aristotle accepted an invitation from Philip of Macedonia to tutor his son, Alexander, then age 13. Aristotle tutored Alexander (later to become known as Alexander the Great) for 7 years. What was the impact of Aristotle's teaching on Alexander the Great? (Was Alexander an enlightened leader, a despot; was he supportive of the arts and learning? etc.)

15. In 335 B.C., Aristotle was placed in charge of the Lyceum, a gymnasium sacred to Apollo Lyceus. What is known of the Lyceum, in Aristotle's time (until 323 B.C.) and following his death? The peripatetic school of philosophy, Aristotle's teaching methods, etc.

16. Aristotle, Plato, Euclid, Ptolomey, Heraclitis (among others) appear in Raphael's fresco entitled "The School of Athens" in the Vatican Library. Study that fresco and analyze the philosophic points of view presented therein.

17. Laocoon the man, The Temple of Juno in Carthage, the city of Carthage, the city of Troy, Queen Dido. Compare and contrast one or more of those persons and places as presented in THE AENEID with their mythological, historical or traditional prototype.

18. Do a survey. Draw up a list of 25 questions that relate directly to this course in the Humanities. Most of these should not be "yes" or "no" questions. Rather, most of them should be questions that can be answered in a few sentences. (Who are the heroes of the present time? What is the source of most of our beliefs about what is right and wrong? What does it mean to be tolerant? How do you envision Hell? etc.). Interview no less than ten people and ask them the 25 questions. Type up all of their responses. Analyze and summarize the results of your survey. (Please show me your questions before you begin your survey).

as well as a consignment live bird and poultry equipment auction. Both were successful and well supported.

In the afternoon a cake was served to all in honor of the 50th Wedding Anniversary of Hilda and Ernie Engelsman, both SCPFA members.

Judges were Carl A. Freeman, Mooresville, SC; Clyde Weaver, Holland, OH; Jeremiah Yeaw, Scituate, RI, for the Open Show and August Vinhage, Augusta, NJ for the Junior Department including Junior Showmanship.

Grand Champion of the show was a White Call Cock by Edington and Freeman. Champion Large Fowl was a White Plymouth Rock Cockerel by Elaine and Maurice Nelson; Bantam Champion went to George H. Schroieder on his Black Cochon Cock. In the Junior Dept., Showmanship winner was Jason Mordhorst; Champion Large Fowl by a Junior went to Brett Vanderhoof on a Partridge Rock Pullet and the Champion Bantam and Champion Waterfowl by a Junior both went to Nicole Lago on her White Leghorn Hen and African Goose Hen.

Thanks to all our exhibitors, the judges and everyone who worked so hard on the show; especially those who shared their knowledge and experience with an inexperienced show committee!

We look forward to welcoming everyone to Sussex County, New Jersey again next year.

Dear Board Member:

The weekly work session for the CAPITAL FUND DRIVE will be held on Tuesday, July 7, at 7:00 p.m. at the library. Please note the time. Again, we will have our STEERING COMMITTEE helping us at this meeting.

The County Library Board is holding a regular meeting on Monday, July 6, at 4:00 p.m. in the County Administrative Office, Children's Library in Scranton. On their agenda is an update report on the Carbondale Library project. We can only hope that what we have done so far will satisfy them and convince them that we are behind our project one hundred percent. Anyone willing to go to this meeting will be welcomed.

Please plan to come to our work session. You must be aware of the urgency by now. Thank you.

Yours truly,

Martin Langan

R. D. 1, Box 143B
Forest City, PA 18421

Dear Mr. Buroff:

It was very nice to visit with you and Mrs. Buroff at the Clinton Center Baptist Church on Sunday, June 28th. This letter is a follow-up to our conversation that day about the 1992 Griswold Reunion.

The Griswold Reunion would like to use the Moosic Grange Hall for its annual reunion, to take place this year on Saturday, August 15, 1992. The Reunion will take place from about 11:00 A.M. to about 4:00 P.M.

The Moosic Grange Hall is an ideal setting for the Griswold Reunion and we hope that it will be possible for the group to meet at the Grange Hall again this year.

Sincerely yours,

S. Robert Powell

Dear Renault Alliance or Encore Vehicle Owner:

This notice is sent to you in accordance with the requirements of the National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act.

Chrysler Corporation has determined that a defect which relates to motor vehicle safety exists in 1983 through 1987 model Renault Alliance and Encore vehicles. The heater core, part of the vehicle's heating system, may fail and allow hot engine cooling system fluid and steam to enter the car passenger compartment. To correct the condition, the heater core must be replaced.

Your Alliance or Encore, identified on the enclosed form, requires heater core replacement service. We ask that you arrange for this service by your Jeep/Eagle dealer without delay. The service and required parts as described in this letter will be provided free of charge.

The heater core is located in the center console. It could fail without prior warning—allowing hot fluid to spray on the driver's legs, possibly causing severe burn injury. Also, steam could enter and fill the passenger compartment, causing loss of road visibility and the potential for an accident.

Replacement of the heater core will take about two hours to complete. However, additional time may be required depending on how dealer appointments are scheduled and processed. To obtain this free service:

- Contact your Jeep/Eagle dealer as soon as possible to schedule an appointment for the service.
- Take the enclosed Owner Recall Notification Form with you at the time of your appointment and give it to your dealer. The form identifies the vehicle and the service that is required.

If you have a question about this recall or have any problem obtaining the needed service, please contact Chrysler by the following special toll free telephone number: 1-800-677-0770. You may call Monday through Friday between the hours of 8:30 AM and 5:00 PM, Eastern Time.

We regret any inconvenience which this action may cause you. However, we are concerned about your safety. If your dealer fails or is unable to remedy this defect without charge and within a reasonable time, you may submit a written complaint to the Administrator, National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, 400 Seventh Street, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20590, or call the Toll Free Auto Safety Hotline at 1-800-424-9393. (Washington D.C. area residents may call 366-0123.)

Thank you for your attention to this important matter.

7/10/92 — "La reine Victoria" now in blossom: a purple Victorian Cabbage rose. Very aromatic. Not as large as I thought it might be — but very beautiful nonetheless. The blue and the purple Delphiniums are now out as well, as are quite a number of the Asiatic lilies.
Very beautiful. The Auricular lilies will be out soon &
so will the Tiger lilies.
The yellow Primrose were beautiful, very beautiful.
I need to spend an entire day working in the garden.

Dear Bill —

Thanks for the three photos of my three class champions from this year's FLFC show.

As always, it was a pleasure to show at Syracuse this year. Thanks to you and to John R. and the hard working "Core" group of the club, everything came off beautifully. I didn't hear a single complaint from anyone about anything.

A Red Fox got a few of my birds a few days ago: in the middle of the afternoon. I'm so mad that I can hardly see straight. It's a declaration of war, and I don't think I'll calm down until I get every fox in the County.

I've got a fair number of young birds coming along nicely, and I am anxiously awaiting the Fall show to put them in competition and see how they do.

Thanks again for the 3 photos.

Sincerely,

Robert Powell

7/7/92 - Tuesday: Red fox attacked my poultry; maimed and badly brutalized the old White Orpington hen (she will not live, I'm sure) and tore into the back of a Rhode Island Red pullet (she will live, I think)

7/9/92 - put up a 100 foot long fence, 3 feet high, around a poultry yard; 14 gauge welded mesh; total cost: $83.74
I bought the wire from Mennestein's and Steve gave me a $20 discount

7/10/92 - purchased an electric fence set up at the Agway in Nidralson. Total cost: $102.49. Installed the electric fence around the outside of the 3 foot high welded wire fence. It grieves me to have to put up a fence around the ponies, but it is necessary for their safety. Steps are being taken to solve the "fox problem" but I will not completely relax again knowing that an attack could take place at any time. The fence is a necessity for safety.

Three strands of electric wire:
one at ground level, one about 10" in the air, and one at 3' in the air: nothing should get under or over the fence.

It is 2 weeks today since I vaccinated my flock against laryngotracheitis and most of the birds are completely recovered. There are a few that are still under the weather.

One of the older Black Orpington pullets may have been blinded by the vaccine. That's always a risk to be endured.
I'll be glad when normalcy returns to the hen house.

7/11/92 - attended the "annual picnic" this afternoon at the Soldiers' orphan' School in Hartford.
SRP, DWP I & II; a nice event:
Covered dish picnic / dinner. about 110 people. We sat with Aunt Mrs. Tiffany and Prudence Clark.
Naturally we all ate too much.
There was a dreadful couple who were the entertainment after the dinner: they did a very stupid presentation on go-go & eagles. Edith Gardner and her family always attended the annual picnic at the Hartford orphan' school.

SUMMER IS I-COMEN IN

Summer is i-comen in,
Loud sing cuckoo;
Groweth seed and bloweth mead,
And springeth the wood new.

Sing cuckoo!
Ewe bleateth after lamb,
Loweth after calfe cow,
Bullock sterteth,
Bucke verteth,
Merrie sing cuckoo!

Cuckoo, cuckoo;
Well thou singest, cuckoo!
Nor cease thou never now.

RE: Account 60-60-001-3919113, Maplewood Cemetery Association

Dear Ms. Donovan:

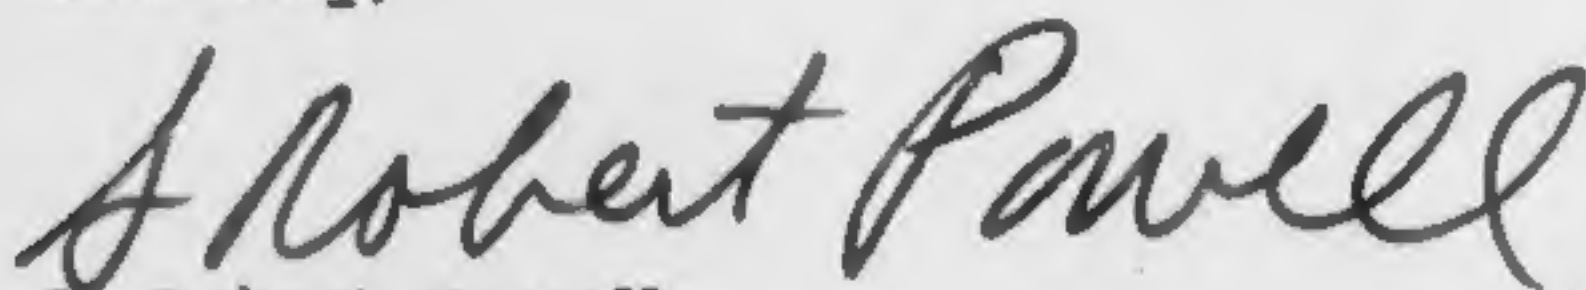

The Maplewood Cemetery Association of Carbondale, in order to make necessary improvements to the Cemetery's grounds, monuments and buildings, has determined that it will be necessary to sell some of the securities now held in trust for the Maplewood Cemetery Association by Northeastern Bank.

Accordingly, the Association met on July 10, 1992, and voted to request that the Northeastern Bank, Scranton, PA, sell $3,000 worth of the securities now held in trust by the Northeastern Bank for the Maplewood Cemetery Association.

This letter, then, is a request that the Northeastern Bank, Scranton, PA, (1) sell $3,000 worth of the securities (to be selected by Investment Management and Trust Services of Northeastern Bank) now held in trust by the Northeastern Bank, and (2) that the $3,000 resulting from the sale of those securities be deposited directly in the checking account (#061-00207-5) of the Maplewood Cemetery Association in the Northeastern Bank.

Thank you for your cooperation and assistance in this matter.

Sincerely,

Dear Walter:

I put together a full-page ad for the National Young Bird Show catalogue and mailed, on 07-08-92, the ad and the check for $58 that you sent directly to the NYBS.

If it will be possible for you to send me by return mail a re-imbusement check for $222.24 (total cost of the 06-22-92 BULLETIN) I would appreciate it very much. Given these difficult economic times, I could use that check.

I'm thinking about doing another BULLETIN in early August and will include a membership list in that BULLETIN. Thank you for the membership list that you sent on 06-22-1992 and which I received on the following day.

I have begun to type-up the material for the next BULLETIN and have started doing the membership list. In so doing, I have discovered that there is a potential problem with Michael Beat's record-breaking fly on June 21, 1992. The fly report form appears to be correct and complete in every respect. HOWEVER, according to a membership list that I received on June 23, 1992 from you, the timer for Michael Beat's fly, Joe Kelly, was NOT a member of the FTA at the time he served as Michael Beat's timer. In addition, no arrangements were previously made (as far as I know) between the FTA and the FTS which would make it possible for an FTS member (in the event that Joe Kelly is a member of the FTS) to serve as a timer for an FTA fly. (See FTA "Flying Rules," #23).

I have written to Jerry O'Rourke and to Tim Kvidera about this possible problem with the record-breaking fly of Michael Beat on June 21, 1992.

My young birds are flying well and I am optimistic about the Fall flys. I hope that all is well with you.

Sincerely,

Robert
